Current History ,1920 Current History and Forum ,1920 The Government of the Soviet Union Samuel Northrup Harper,1938 The Soviet system as it came to be called from the name of its governmental organs was not only the product of revolution it became the instrument of a continuing revolution Its authors still insist on the essentially revolutionary character of their regime even after 20 years At the present writing the Bolsheviks speak of a turning point in the political life of the country and in the politics of the Revolution which is taking the form of new constitutions and at the same time of the most extensive and ruthless purge in the history of the Revolution Under a revolutionary regime of constant and intense struggle political control and manipulation have been extended to all fields Thus the Soviet system represents a type of totalitarian state It will be necessary in this analysis of the Government of the Soviet union to include institutions and organizations that ordinarily play only secondary roles in the political structure of a community The Soviet trade or labor unions and the cooperative societies have functions which would be classified as essentially governmental in Western parliamentary systems The word government in the title must therefore be understood in a very broad sense It would perhaps have been more correct to have titled this study the functioning of Bolshevism Preface "The Greatest Failure in All History" John Spargo,1920 Information Respecting the Russian Soviet System and Its Propaganda in North America Canada.
