Witness to Extinction Samuel Turvey,2009-08-13 The tragic recognition of the extinction of the Yangtze River Dolphin or baiji in 2007 became a major news story and sent shockwaves around the world It made a romantic story for the baiji was a unique and beautiful creature that features in many Chinese legends and folk tales The Goddess of the Yangtze as it was known was also the lone representative of an entire and ancient branch of the Tree of Life But perhaps the greater tragedy is that its status as one of the world s most threatened mammals had been widely recognized yet despite wide publicity virtually no international funds became available A compelling read by a young naturalist Samuel Turvey tells the story of the plight of the Yangtze River Dolphin from his unique perspective as a conservation biologist deeply involved in the struggle to save the dolphin This is both a celebration of a beautiful and remarkable animal that once graced one of China s greatest rivers its natural history and its role as a cultural symbol and also a personal eyewitness account of the failures of policy and the struggle to get funds that led to its tragic demise It is a true cautionary tale that we must learn from for there are countless other threatened species that will suffer from the same human mistakes and whose loss we shall not know until it is too late

A review of the inland fisheries of the People's Republic of China and the strengthening of capacity in the collection and analysis of inland fisheries statistics Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2024-01-03 China s surface waters cover 20.6 million ha The aquatic living resources in these waters not only sustain wild natural fishery production but also support fish production based on stock enhancement and aquaculture Most inland capture fisheries are concentrated in the major rivers and lakes whereas reservoirs are dominated by enhanced fisheries In 2020 the national freshwater fishing output was 1.46 million tonnes which was a decrease of 20.84 percent from the previous year Since 2005 the output value of freshwater capture fishing and aquatic products in China has exceeded CNY 20 billion reaching a peak of CNY 46.577 billion in 2018 With increasing economic development the role of inland capture fisheries in the social economy has changed Since the 1990s there has been a gradual increase in aquaculture and since 2010 a gradual decrease in inland capture fishery production. With the issuance of various fishing ban policies and the strengthening of enforcement actions especially the implementation of the 10 year fishing ban on the Yangtze River and the fishing ban on major lakes inland capture fisheries production has dropped sharply since 2016 and this development is expected to continue due to the increased awareness of the need for ecological protection in large waterbodies the implementation of the fishing ban policy and the strengthening of law enforcement. However even though aquaculture production has massively increased and provides the bulk of freshwater fish supply high quality aquatic products from natural waters are still highly sought after by consumers.
