Snowdon,Martine Hausberger,1997-03-20 For at least 30 years there have been close parallels between studies of birdsong development and those of the development of human language Both song and language require species specific stimulation at a sensitive period in development and subsequent practice through subsong and plastic song in birds and babbling in infant humans leading to the development of characteristic vocalisations for each species This book illustrates how social interactions during development can shape vocal learning and extend the sensitive period beyond infancy and how social companions can induce flexibility even into adulthood Social companions in a wide range of species including birds and humans but also cetaceans and nonhuman primates play important roles in shaping vocal production as well as the comprehension and appropriate usage of vocal communication This book will be required reading for students and researchers interested in animal and human communication and its development Animals George Jennison,1927 The Americana Frederick Converse Beach,George Edwin Rines,1911 The Americana ,1907 Report of the Iowa State Horticultural Society, for the Year ... Iowa State Horticultural Society,1901 Natural History: Animals George Jennison,1927 The Year Book and Guide to East Africa ,1954 The Encyclopedia Americana Frederick Converse Beach,1904 The Live-stock journal almanack and year-book [afterw.] The Live stock journal annual ,1878 Notes from the Leyden Museum Rijksmuseum van Natuurlijke Historie (Leiden),1885 Notes from the Royal Zoological Museum Rijksmuseum van Natuurlijke Historie te Leiden,1885 Bit & Spur Minnie McIntyre,Edward E.
