The Structure and Development of Self-Consciousness Dan Zahavi, Thor Grünbaum, Josef Parnas, 2004-09-23 Self-consciousness is a topic of considerable importance to a variety of empirical and theoretical disciplines such as developmental and social psychology cognitive neuroscience psychiatry and philosophy This volume presents essays on self-consciousness by prominent psychologists cognitive neurologists and philosophers Some of the topics included are the infant's sense of self and others theory of mind phenomenology of embodiment neural mechanisms of action attribution and hermeneutics of the self A number of these essays argue in turn that empirical findings in developmental psychology phenomenological analyses of embodiment or studies of pathological self-experiences point to the existence of a type of self-consciousness that does not require any explicit I thought or self-observation but is more adequately described as a pre-reflective embodied form of self-familiarity The different contributions in the volume amply demonstrate that self-consciousness is a complex multifaceted phenomenon that calls for an integration of different complementary
