True to the Old Flag George Alfred Henty, 2020-05-04 MY DEAR COUSIN I am leaving next week with my husband for England where we intend to pass some time visiting his friends John and I have determined to accept the invitation you gave us last summer for Harold to come and spend a few months with you His father thinks that a great future will ere many years open in the West and that it is therefore well the boy should learn something of frontier life For myself I would rather that he stayed quietly at home for he is at present over fond of adventure but as my husband is meditating selling his estate here and moving West it is perhaps better for him Massachusetts is in a ferment as indeed are all the Eastern States and the people talk openly of armed resistance against the Government My husband being of English birth and having served in the king s army cannot brook what he calls the rebellious talk which is common among his neighbors and is already on bad terms with many around us I myself am as it were a neutral As an American woman it seems to me that the colonists have been dealt with somewhat hardly by the English Parliament and that the measures of the latter have been high handed and arbitrary Upon the other hand I naturally incline toward my husband s views He maintains that as the king s army has driven out the French and gives protection to the colony it is only fair that the colonists should contribute to its expenses The English ask for no contributions toward the expense of their own country but demand that at least the expenses of the protection of the colony shall not be charged upon the heavily taxed people at home As to the law that the colony shall trade only with the mother country my husband says that this is the rule in the colonies of Spain France Portugal and the Netherlands and that the people here who can obtain what land they choose and till it without rent should not grumble at paying this small tax to the mother country However it be I fear that troubles will come and this place being the head and focus of the party hostile to England my husband feeling himself out of accord with all his neighbors saving a few loyal gentlemen like himself is thinking much and seriously of selling our estate here and of moving away into the new countries of the West where he will be free from all the disputation and contentious talk which occupies men s time here Indeed cousin times have sadly changed since you were staying here with us five years ago Then our life was a peaceful and quiet one now there is nothing but wrangling and strife The dissenting clergy are as my husband says was the case in England before the great civil war the fomenters of this discontent There are many busybodies who pass their time in stirring up the people by violent harangues and seditious writings therefore everyone takes one side or the other and there is neither peace nor comfort in life

Henty, 2016-08-02 G A Henty was born in Trumpington near Cambridge He was a sickly child who had to spend long periods in bed During his frequent illnesses he became an avid reader and developed a wide range of interests which he carried into adulthood He attended Westminster School London and later Gonville and Caius College Cambridge where he was a keen sportsman He left the university early without completing his degree to volunteer for the Army Hospital Commissariat when the Crimean War began He was sent to the Crimea and while there he witnessed the appalling conditions under which the British soldier had to fight His letters home were filled with vivid descriptions of what he saw His father was impressed by his letters and sent them to The Morning Advertiser newspaper which printed them This initial writing success was a factor in Henty s later decision to accept the offer to become a special correspondent the early name for journalists now better known as war correspondents Shortly before resigning from the army as a captain in 1859 he married Elizabeth Finucane The couple had four children Elizabeth died in 1865 after a long illness and shortly after her death Henty began writing articles for the Standard newspaper In 1866 the newspaper sent him as their special correspondent to report on the Austro Italian War where he met Giuseppe Garibaldi He went on to cover the 1868 British punitive expedition to Abyssinia the Franco Prussian War the Ashanti War the Carlist Rebellion in Spain and the Turco Serbian War He also witnessed the opening of the Suez Canal and travelled to Palestine Russia and India
