Printed First in the Yeaere 1494. ... By the Changing of Some Antiquated Words Rendred More Intelligible. [by A. Baker and S. Cressy.] Walter HYLTON, Augustine Baker, Serenus CRESSY (name in religion of Hugh Paulin Cressy.), 1659 The Scale of Perfection Walter Hilton, 2001-02-01

Walter Hilton's The Scale of Perfection maintains a secure place among the major religious treatises composed in fourteenth century England. This guide to the contemplative life, written in two books of more than 40,000 words each, is notable for its careful explorations of its religious themes and also as a monument of Middle English prose. Its popularity is attested by the fact that some forty-two manuscripts containing one or both of the books survive with a relatively large number of manuscripts with Book I alone, which suggests it may have been the more popular of the two. Hilton, born c. 1343, was a member of the religious order known as the Augustinian Canons. There is reason to believe that he was trained in canon law and studied at the University of Cambridge. He was the author of a number of works in English and Latin, all much shorter than The Scale. He died at the Augustinian Priory of Thurgarton in Nottinghamshire in 1396. On the basis of the content of certain of his works, it can be safely inferred that he was actively involved in some of the religious controversies current in England in the 1380s and 1390s, and his principal concern evident in The Scale is to defend orthodox belief, especially in the conduct of the contemplative life.

After the Reformation, it was a favourite book of Father Augustine Baker's, the well-known author of Sancta Sophia and his comments on it are among his manuscripts at Downside. In 1659, Father Baker's biographer and editor, Dom Serenus Cressy, O.S.B., published an edition of the Scale, the title page of which claims that by the changing of some antiquated words, it is rendered more intelligible. Another edition appeared in 1672, and yet another in 1679. Within our own times, two editions have been published: one by the late Father Ephrem Guy, O.S.B., in 1869, the other a reprint of Cressy's in 1870. The Scale (or, Ladder)
