Noodling for Flatheads Burkhard Bilger,2001-03-22 The Old South is slow to give up its secrets Though satellite dishes outnumber banjo players a thousand to one most traditions haven t died they ve just gone into hiding Cockfighting is illegal in forty eight states yet there are three national cockfighting magazines and cockpits in even the most tranquil communities Homemade liquor has been outlawed for more than a century yet moonshiners in Virginia still ship nearly one million gallons a year Some of these pastimes are ancient others ultramodern some are illegal others merely obscure But the people who practice them share an undeniable kinship Instead of wealth promotion or a few seconds of prime time they follow dreams that lead them ever deeper underground They are reminders ultimately that American culture isn t as predictable as it seems that the weeds growing between its cracks are its most vital signs of life In these masterfully crafted essays Burkhard Bilger explores the history and practice of eight such clandestine worlds Like John McPhee and Ian Frazier he introduces us to people whose spirit of individualism keeps traditions alive from a fifty something female coon hunter who spends 340 nights a year in the woods to a visionary frog farmer and a man whose arms are scarred by the eighty pound catfish he catches by hand A fluid combination of adventure history and humor Noodling for Flatheads is evocative intelligent and wonder fully weird a splendid antidote to the sameness of today s popular culture
