Te Paea: A Life Michael King, 2013-08-01 Te Paea Herangi whom Professor John Pocock identified as possibly the most influential woman in our political history wanted an honest biography of her turbulent life I want the truth told and nothing but the truth she told a Pakeha journalist Michael King has written such a book He did so with the full support of Te Paea s tribe Tainui and of her surviving family and prot g s When this book first appeared in 1977 it was hailed as the best book written by or about a New Zealander The Oxford History of New Zealand Literature said it was so far an advance on anything published previously that it was without precedent It remains so Tupuna Awa Marama Muru-Lanning, 2016-09-19 We have always owned the water we have never ceded our mana over the river to anyone King Tuheitia Paki asserted in 2012 Prime Minister John Key disagreed King Tuheitia s claim that Maori have always owned New Zealand s water is just plain wrong So who does own the water in New Zealand if anyone and why does it matter Offering some human context around that fraught question Tupuna Awa looks at the people and politics of the Waikato River For iwi and hapu of the lands that border its 425 kilometre length the Waikato River is an ancestor a taonga and a source of mauri lying at the heart of identity and chiefly power It is also subject to governing oversight by the Crown and intersected by hydro stations managed by state owned power companies a situation rife with complexity and subject to shifting and subtle power dynamics Marama Muru Lanning explains how Maori of the region the Crown and Mighty River Power have talked about the ownership guardianship and stakeholders of the river By examining the debates over water in one New Zealand river over a single recent period Muru Lanning provides a powerful lens through which to view modern iwi politics debates over water ownership and contests for power between Maori and the state Te Wananga, 1929 Good-bye Maoriland Chris Bourke, 2017-10-15 Be it Tipperary or Pokarekare the morning reveille or the bugle s last post concert parties at the front or patriotic songs at home music was central to New Zealand s experience of the First World War In Good Bye Maoriland the acclaimed author of Blue Smoke introduces us the songs and sounds of World War I in order to take us deep inside the human experience of war

Maori and Aboriginal Women in the Public Eye Karen Fox, 2011-12-01 From 1950 increasing numbers of Aboriginal and M ori women became nationally or internationally renowned Few reached the heights of international fame accorded Evonne Goolagong or Dame Kiri Te Kanawa and few remained household names for any length of time But their growing numbers and visibility reflected the dramatic social cultural and political changes taking place in Australia and New Zealand in the second half of the twentieth century This book is the first in depth study of media portrayals of well known Indigenous women in Australia and New Zealand including Goolagong Te Kanawa Oodgeroo Noonuccal and Dame Whina Cooper The power of the media in shaping the lives of individuals and communities for good or ill is widely acknowledged In these pages Karen Fox examines an especially fascinating and revealing aspect of the media and its history how prominent M ori and Aboriginal women were depicted for the readers of popular media in the past Publisher s description Colonial Encounters in a Time of Global Conflict, 1914-1918 Santanu Das, Anna Maguire, Daniel Steinbach, 2021-09-28 This volume gathers an international cast of scholars to examine the unprecedented range of colonial encounters during the First World War. More than four million men of color and an even greater number of white Europeans and Americans crisscrossed the globe. Others in occupied areas behind the warzone or in neutral countries were nonetheless swept into the maelstrom. From local encounters in New Zealand, Britain and East Africa to army camps and hospitals in France and Mesopotamia, from cafes and clubs in Salonika and London to anticolonial networks in Germany, the USA and the Dutch East Indies, this volume examines the actions and experiences of a varied company of soldiers, medics, writers, photographers and revolutionaries to reconceptualize this conflict as a turning point in the history of global encounters. How did people interact across uneven intersections of nationality, race, gender, class, religion and language? How did encounters, direct and mediated, forced and unforced, shape issues from cross-racial intimacy and identity formation to anti-colonial networks, civil rights movements and visions of a post-war future? The twelve chapters delve into spaces and processes of encounter to explore how the conjoined realities of war, race and empire were experienced, recorded and instrumentalized.

Te Puea Michael King, 1977 Biography of Te Puea Herangi.

Rejected Princesses Jason Porath, 2016-10-25 A brazen and empowering illustrated collection celebrating inspirational badass women throughout history based on the popular Tumblr blog. Well-behaved women seldom make history. Good thing these women are far from well-behaved. Illustrated in a contemporary animation style, Rejected Princesses turns the ubiquitous pretty pink princess stereotype portrayed in movies and on endless toys, books and tutus on its head, paying homage instead to an awesome collection of strong, fierce and yes, sometimes weird women: warrior queens, soldiers, villains, spies, revolutionaries and more who refused to behave and meekly accept their place. An entertaining mix of biography, imagery and humor written in a fresh, young and riotous voice, this thoroughly researched exploration salutes these awesome women drawn from both historical and fantastical realms, including real-life literature, mythology and folklore. Each profile features an eye-catching image of both heroic and villainous women in command from across history and around the world, from a princess-cum-pirate in fifth-century Denmark to a rebel preacher in 1630s Boston to a bloodthirsty Hungarian countess and a former prostitute who commanded a fleet of more than seventy-zero men on China's seas.
