

The background is a complex, abstract painting. It features a central figure in a dynamic, almost dancing pose, rendered in shades of blue, orange, and purple. The figure appears to be holding a thin, glowing line that spirals outwards. The overall composition is filled with swirling, energetic forms in various colors, including deep blues, bright oranges, and rich reds, set against a dark, starry background. The lighting is dramatic, with a bright, glowing point of light on the left side that illuminates the central text.

Spirits Song:

Songs for the Spirits Barley Norton, 2010-10-01 Songs for the Spirits examines the Vietnamese practice of communing with spirits through music and performance. During rituals dedicated to a pantheon of indigenous spirits, musicians perform an elaborate sequence of songs, a songscape for possessed mediums who carry out ritual actions, distribute blessed gifts to disciples, and dance to the music's infectious rhythms. Condemned by French authorities in the colonial period and prohibited by the Vietnamese Communist Party in the late 1950s, mediumship practices have undergone a strong resurgence since the early 1990s and they are now being drawn upon to promote national identity and cultural heritage through folklorized performances of rituals on the national and international stage. By tracing the historical trajectory of traditional music and religion since the early twentieth century, this groundbreaking study offers an intriguing account of the political transformation and modernization of cultural practices over a period of dramatic and often turbulent transition. An accompanying DVD contains numerous video and music extracts that illustrate the fascinating ways in which music evokes the embodied presence of spirits and their gender and ethnic identities.

the Sage Knowledge of Illness in a Sepik Society Gilbert Lewis, 2021-01-07 Illness is a matter of concern in every society. Social responses to it depend both on the nature of the illness and on cultural interpretation of its significance. This study of the occurrence, recognition, and explanation of illness amongst the Gnao makes use of its author's dual training in medicine and anthropology to show why, how far, and in what respects these people of a forest village in New Guinea turn to their religious and magical knowledge in the distress of illness. The analysis shows how a study of illness can reveal belief and open an illuminating and crucial perspective on a society's view of its world.
