Spurgeon,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1888 edition Excerpt SPURGEONS GOLD Right principles are spiritual gold and he that hath them and is ruled by them is the man who truly lives The Lord would not have spirituality divorced from common sense Man is all outside to God I always delight in a man who can afford to go about his life work without fuss bluster or loud announcement Usefulness is as possible in obscurity as in publicity To wait is much wiser than when you cannot hear the fog horn and have no pilot to steam on and wreck your vessel on the rocks It is hell to live without a Saviour Lose your head and you lose the battle Lose your heart and you have lost all In the struggle of life a cheerful fearlessness is a grand assistance Though you have a clear head and can stand in a dangerous place I would not recommend you to go there if somebody else would thus be placed in danger Skillful mariners sail by all winds and we ought to make progress through all circumstances I saw the other day the emblem of a serpent with its tail in its mouth and if I carry it a little beyond the artist s intention the symbol may set forth appetite swallowing up itself Giving to God is no loss it is putting your substance into the best bank Let us not seek to alter our destiny but let us try to make the best of our circumstances While apostolic men looked for the coming of Christ they looked for it with no idea of dread but on the contrary with the utmost joy A notable divine once gave this direction The way to heaven is turn to the right and keep straight on I would add turn when you come to the cross Only one turn is needed but that must be a thorough turn and one in which you persevere God loves to discover even the shadow of faith in his unbelieving creatures Sinners
