The time was the great rift between fallen angels as humans it was the supposed time of the great freedom when there were no rules on earth. And that time was when earth wasn't even called earth. It was nothing to them and something in the same moment. The fallen angels almost had the same kind of planet as Aurbrahtee which they gave up. It was warm and lit all the time. There was no darkness, no coldness, and no desolation. Until their dark hearts took over and began to change their surroundings. What the fallen angels also didn't realize was that their new home verged changing with the reality of the darkness lying in the root of their hearts. The fallen angels didn't realize that darkness and negativity carried a lot more dead weight with it which is ultimately what forged the slowing planet with all the fallen angels as humans upon her surface.

Bohemians West Sherry L. Smith, 2025-10. The opening years of the twentieth century saw a grand cast of radicals and reformers fighting for a new America seeking change not only in labor picket lines and at women's suffrage rallies but also in homes and bedrooms. In the thick of this heady milieu were Sara Bard Field and Charles Erskine Scott Wood, two aspiring poets and political activists in the West whose love story uncovers a potent emotional world beneath this transformative time. Self-declared pioneers in free love, Field and Wood exchanged hundreds of letters that chartered a new kind of romantic relationship and their personal affair frequently intersected with their deeply engaged political lives. As Field's star rose in the suffrage movement, including a cross-country automobile trip she took in 1915 carrying a petition with thousands of signatures demanding Congress pass the Nineteenth Amendment, she began to ask questions about her own power in her relationship with Wood. Charting a passionate and tumultuous relationship that spanned decades, Bohemians West offers a deeply personal look at a dynamic period in American history. Baumgardner, 2017-10-16. Two cousins were raised by their grandparents. Margaret's parents died from an accident and Sara's parents died from the flu epidemic. Sara was beautiful and always appeared happy and was kind to everyone. She had many friends and always had a good attitude about life. She inherited a large inheritance from her deceased parents and a marriage proposal from the most popular guy at school. However, Margaret was always overweight and had a very negative attitude and felt that she would never get married because no one ever asked her out on a date. She blamed Sara for all of her problems and bad luck. When she heard that Sara was engaged to the guy that she and half the girls at school had a crush on, she totally detested her cousin and refused to have anything to do with her. The lives of both girls took a drastic change after they moved away from their grandparents' home. Instead of having the storybook marriage that she had always dreamed of, Sara's home turned into a chamber of horrors. Margaret felt that she was finally getting even with Sara when she began having an affair with her gorgeous husband. Discourse Organization in the Comprehension of Narrative Texts Keisuke
