Wild Woodlands:

America's Wild Woodlands ,1985 Heavily illustrated with color photos Wild Woodlands ,1992 A popular nature photographer has collected more than 200 stunning full color photographs of America's remaining undisturbed forests many of which are endangered These virgin old growth woodlands from the North Woods to the Deep South's piney woods from New England woods to The Desert Forest form unique habitats The animals that live there also are photographed and described in relation to the ecology of each area Wild Urban Woodlands Stefan Körner,2005 This book provides a first overview of the phenomenon of post industrial urban wilderness urban landscapes once shaped by heavy industry that are being re colonized naturally by forests These new types of urban woodlands are often overlooked by ecologists foresters and planners Individual chapters consider urban woodlands from the perspectives of ecology environmental sociology forestry nature conservation and landscape architecture Our Wonder World ,1914 Rebirding Benedict Macdonald,2019-04-08 WINNER OF THE WAINWRIGHT PRIZE FOR WRITING ON GLOBAL CONSERVATION Winner of the Richard Jefferies Society and White Horse Book Shop Literary Prize splendid Guardian visionary New Statesman Rebirding takes the long view of Britain's wildlife decline from the early taming of our landscape and its long lost elephants and rhinos to fenland drainage the removal of cornerstone species such as wild cattle horses beavers and boar and forward in time to the intensification of our modern landscapes and the collapse of invertebrate populations It looks at key reasons why species are vanishing as our landscapes become ever more tamed and less diverse with wildlife trapped in tiny pockets of habitat It explores how Britain has uniquely relied on modifying farmland rather than restoring ecosystems in a failing attempt to halt wildlife decline The irony is that 94% of Britain is not built upon at all And with more nature loving voices than any European country we should in fact have the best not the most impoverished wildlife on our continent Especially when the rural economics of our game estates and upland farms are among the worst in Europe Britain is blessed with all the space it needs for an epic wildlife recovery The deer estates of the Scottish Highlands are twice the size of Yellowstone National Park Snowdonia is larger than the Maasai Mara The problem in Britain is not a lack of space It is that our precious space is uniquely wasted not only for wildlife but for people's jobs and rural futures too Rebirding maps out how we might finally turn things around rewilding our national parks restoring natural ecosystems and allowing our wildlife a far richer future In doing so an entirely new sector of rural jobs would be created finally bringing Britain's dying rural landscapes and failing economies back to life American Game ,1926 Wildlife Conservation in Managed Woodlands and Forests Esmond Harris,Jeanette Harris,1997 The two fold theme of this book production and wildlife enhancement is based upon the observations and experience of the authors and their exhaustive survey and summary of the relevant published literature Much of this has not before been drawn together it encompasses data from the UK continental Europe North America China and Russia all visited by the authors In Britain alone there are two million hectares of productive forest and a considerable area of unmanaged small broadleaved woods Positive management of both will enhance their value to wildlife without reducing their timber producing potential This is sustainability as required by the Rio Summit both of a renewable resource timber and wood products and of the wildlife environment Instructions for Making Improvement Thinnings and the Management of Moth-infested Woodlands Massachusetts.
