

A close-up photograph of a brown spider on its web. The spider is positioned in the center-right of the frame, with its long, hairy legs spread out. The web is a complex, multi-layered structure of fine, silken threads. In the foreground, a cicada nymph is visible, partially obscured by the web. The background consists of dark, textured ground and some green leaves at the top. The overall scene is illuminated by natural light, highlighting the intricate details of the spider and its web.
