Sun rhythm form R.L. Knowles, Sun Rhythm Form Ralph Knowles, Ralph L. Knowles, 1985-03-01 While solar technology for individual buildings has become an accepted part of architectural design Knowles takes the next innovative step In this book he proposes solar access in urban environments with a novel design method called the solar envelope Ralph L. Knowles is Professor of Architecture University of Southern California Los Angeles Solar Adobe Albert Narath, 2024-03-05 How a centuries old architectural tradition reemerged as a potential solution to the political and environmental crises of the 1970s Against the backdrop of a global energy crisis a widespread movement embracing the use of raw earth materials for building construction emerged in the 1970s Solar Adobe examines this new wave of architectural experimentation taking place in the United States detailing how an ancient tradition became a point of convergence for issues of environmentalism architecture technology and Indigenous resistance Utilized for centuries by the Pueblo people of the American Southwest and by Spanish colonialists adobe construction found renewed interest as various groups contended with the troubled legacies of modern architecture and an increasingly urgent need for sustainable design practices In this period of critical experimentation design networks that included architects historians counterculture communities government weapons labs and Indigenous activists all looked to adobe as a means to address pressing environmental and political issues Albert Narath charts the unique capacities of adobe construction across a wide range of contexts consistently troubling simple distinctions between traditional and modern technologies high design and vernacular architecture Drawing insightful parallels between architecture environmentalism and movements for Indigenous sovereignty Solar Adobe stresses the importance of considering the history of the built environment in conjunction with architecture s larger impact on the natural world Ritual House Ralph Knowles, 2006 Celebrated architect Ralph Knowles Distinguished Emeritus at USC s School of Architecture has carefully crafted a book for architects designers planners anyone who yearns to reconnect to the natural world through the built environment He shows us how to re examine a shadow a wall a window a landscape as they respond to the natural cycles of heat light wind and rain Analyzing methods of sheltering that range from a Berber tent to a Spanish courtyard to the cityscape of contemporary Los Angeles Ritual House shows us the future by coining the concept of solar access zoning he introduces a radical yet increasingly viable solution for tomorrow s mega cities Solar Energy Update ,1983 Reedy's Mirror ,1918 The Greening of Architecture Phillip James Tabb, A. Senem Deviren, 2017-03-02 Contemporary architecture and the culture it reflects dependent as it is on fossil fuels has contributed to the cause and necessity of a burgeoning green process that emerged over the past half century This text is the first to offer a comprehensive critical history and analysis of the greening of architecture through accumulative reduction of negative environmental effects caused by buildings urban designs and settlements Describing the progressive development of green architecture from 1960 to 2010 it illustrates how it is ever evolving and ameliorated through alterations in form technology

materials and use and it examines different places worldwide that represent a diversity of cultural and climatic contexts The book is divided into seven chapters with an overview of the environmental issues and the nature of green architecture in response to them followed by an historic perspective of the pioneering evolution of green technology and architectural integration over the past five decades and finally providing the intransigent and culturally pervasive current examples within a wide range of geographic territories The greening of architecture is seen as an evolutionary process that is informed by significant world events climate change environmental theories movements in architecture technological innovations and seminal works in architecture and planning throughout each decade over the past fifty years This time period is bounded on one end by the awareness of environmental problems beginning in the 1960 s the influential texts by Rachel Carson E F Schumacher Buckminster Fuller and Steward Brand and the impact of the OPEC Oil Embargo of 1973 and on the other end the pervasiveness of the necessary greening of architecture that includes systemic reforms in architectural and urban design land use planning transportation agriculture and energy production found in the 2000 s The greening process moves from remediation to holistic models of architecture Geographical landscapes give a global account of the greening process where some examples are parallel and sympathetic and others are in clear contrast to one another with very individuated approaches Certain events like the Rio Summit in 1992 and Kyoto Protocol in 1997 and themes such as the Hannover Principles in 2000 provide a dynamic ideological critique as well as a formal and technical discussion of the embodied and accumulative content of greening principles in architecture
