Individual Differences in Second/Foreign Language Speech Production: Multidisciplinary Approaches and New Sounds Peijian Paul Sun,Boping Yuan,Xun Yan,Jimin Kahng,2023-09-01 Second foreign language L2 speech production is a complex process requiring individuals combined efforts to utilize various processing components such as conceptualiser formulator and articulator Since the publication of Pim Levelt s book Speaking From Intention to Articulation in 1989 a considerable number of studies have examined L2 speech production in the field of neuroscience with a particular focus on the link between speech perception and speech production Undeniably a neurolinguistic examination of speech production can enrich our understanding of how human brains compute linguistic information at a cognitive level However it is insufficient by only focusing on the neurocognitive dimension of speech production given that individuals speech production can be subject to various individual differences factors either cognitively affectively or socio culturally It is therefore necessary to move beyond the neurocognitive understanding of speech production by taking every possible perspective into consideration Individual difference as an umbrella term covers psychological traits personal characteristics cognitive and emotional components that distinguish learners from each other Given that individual difference factors can reveal disparities in L2 learning and performance among learners such factors have attracted researchers growing interest concerning their influences on L2 speech processing their relationships with L2 speech performance and their contributions to L2 speech development Nevertheless our understanding of L2 speech production is not only insufficient compared to other L2 skills such as writing and reading but also limited to the neurocognitive account of L2 speech production More research therefore is in urgent need to uncover the influence of various individual differences factors on L2 speech production from multidisciplinary perspectives California Poultry Journal ,1926 The Making and Breaking of Minds: How social interactions shape the human mind Isabella Sarto-Jackson,2022-04-05 The human brain has a truly remarkable capacity It reorganizes itself flexibly adjusting to fluctuating environmental conditions a process called neuroplasticity Neuroplasticity provides the basis for wide ranging learning and memory processes that are particularly profuse during childhood and adolescence At the same time the exceptional malleability of the developing brain leaves it highly vulnerable to negative impact from the surroundings Abusive or neglecting social environments as well as socioeconomic deprivation and poverty cause toxic stress and complex traumas that can severely compromise cognitive development emotional processing self perception and executive brain functions The neurophysiological changes entailed impair emotional regulation lead to heightened anxiety and afflict attachment and the formation of social bonds Neuroplastic changes following severely adverse experiences are not something that a person grows out of and gets over These experiences alter the neurobiological and biochemical makeup and cause people to live in an emotionally relabeled world in which the evaluation of any social cue their behavior cognition and state of mind are biased towards the negative Even more worrying detrimental neurophysiological consequences are not limited to the traumatized individual but are often transmitted to subsequent generations through a process of social niche construction thereby creating a vicious cycle Thus the making and breaking forces of the brain are epitomized by parents alloparents peers and our socioeconomic niche This book expounds on the formative role that the social environment plays in healthy brain development especially during infancy childhood and adolescence Based on scientific findings the book advocates for bold measures and responsible stewardship to combat child abuse maltreatment and child poverty By bringing together insights from neuroscience evolutionary biology and social education work it lays out a fact based transdisciplinary endeavor that aims at rising to the societal challenge of providing a rewarding perspective to youth at risk It will be a valuable resource for academics from social education pedagogy cognitive science neuroscience as well as professionals in the fields of social work pedagogy education child welfare
