What Is an Emotion? William James, 2017-06-13 I should say first of all that the only emotions I propose expressly to consider here are those that have a distinct bodily expression That there are feelings of pleasure and displeasure of interest and excitement bound up with mental operations but having no obvious bodily expression for their consequence would I suppose be held true by most readers Certain arrangements of sounds of lines of colours are agreeable and others the reverse without the degree of the feeling being sufficient to quicken the pulse or breathing or to prompt to movements of either the body or the face Certain sequences of ideas charm us as much as others tire us It is a real intellectual delight to get a problem solved and a real intellectual torment to have to leave it unfinished The first set of examples the sounds lines and colours are either bodily sensations or the images of such The second set seem to depend on processes in the ideational centres exclusively Taken together they appear to prove that there are pleasures and pains inherent in certain forms of nerve action as such wherever that action occur The case of these feelings we will at present leave entirely aside and confine our attention to the more complicated cases in which a wave of bodily disturbance of some kind accompanies the perception of the interesting sights or sounds or the passage of the exciting train of ideas Surprise curiosity rapture fear anger lust greed and the like become then the names of the mental states with which the person is possessed The bodily disturbances are said to be the manifestation of these several emotions their expression or natural language and these emotions themselves being so strongly characterized both from within and without may be called the standard emotions William James

Feeling Our Feelings: What Philosophers Think and People Know Eva Brann, 2008-10-01 A dazzling wealth of stimulating reflection and wise insight To read Feeling Our Feelings is to relive one's own early moments of intellectual awakening with the all the advantages of age and experience Eva Brann proves to be a most steady and enlightening guide on an inquiry into the relation between life and thought that few have pursued so thoroughly Susan Shell Department of Political Science Boston College In Feeling Our Feelings Eva Brann considers what the great philosophers on the passions and feelings have thought and written about them She examines the relevant work of Plato Aristotle the Stoics Aquinas Descartes Spinoza Adam Smith Hume Kierkegaard and Heidegger and also includes a chapter on contemporary studies on the brain Feeling Our Feelings provides a comprehensive look at this pervasive and elusive topic Feeling our feelings comes from the words a little boy called Zeke said to me some thirty years ago when he was four I was swinging him in a park in Cambridge Massachusetts and not doing it right Swing me higher he said I want to feel my feelings The phrase stuck with me you might say it festered in my mind it agitated questions Why do we all want to feel our feelings so generally that people not in touch with them are thought to be in need of therapy What feeling was swinging high inducing Was it an exultation of the body or an exhilaration of the soul When he wanted to be feeling his feelings was there a difference between the general feeling the mere consciousness of being affected and his particular feelings the distinguishable affects as when you sing a song there is a difference between the singing done and the song sung or is there Eva Brann from her Preface

Researching with Feeling Caroline Clarke, Mike Broussine, Linda Watts, 2014-10-10 Why should researchers be interested in their feelings and emotions as they carry out research Emotion is what it is to exist to be human and is present in every sphere of our lives All activities are infused with emotion even those that are constructed as rational because rationality and emotionality are interpenetrated and entwined because all thinking is tinged with feeling and all feeling is tinged with thinking This book illuminates the emotional processes of doing social and organizational research and the implications of this for the outcomes of research With contributions from leading academics and research practitioners it addresses the significant issue of the sometimes intense emotional experiences involved in doing research and the implications it has for the theory and practice of social research By examining the nature of feelings and emotions it explores how we might understand researchers emotions and experiences and considers the often powerful feelings encountered in a variety of research contexts Topics discussed include power relations psycho social explanations of researcher emotions paradoxical relations with research participants and the sometimes disturbing data that is gained research supervision the politics of research gender publishing undergoing vivas and presenting at conferences This book will therefore be a valuable companion to researchers and research students from the start of their career onwards

Forms of Concrecence Granville C. Henry, 1993 Ricorso and Revelation traces the impact on Modernism of the archaeological discoveries of the Palace of Knossos the Royal Cemetery of Ur and the Tomb of Tutankhamen and the artifacts recovered from these sites showing how they entered the narrative strategies of the Modernist movement The author also develops a new argument about the four myth configurations the maze alchemy the Great Goddess and the Apocalypse which were of central importance to the literature of European Modernism between 1895 and 1946 studying their appearances in a wide range of European modernist writers and in the paintings of Picasso and the films of Jean Cocteau Drawing from a variety of theories on myth Smith suggests that each of these four myths represents a creative return to the origins ricorso a reduction of the raw materials of daily life to the fundamental elements of creation revelation followed by a recreation of the world cosmogenesis of the poet ontogenesis and of the text poesis

Kant and the Foundations of Morality Halla Kim,2015-02-26 Halla Kim explores the leading themes in Kant's philosophical ethics from a structural methodological point of view to highlight the activities of reason vis vis the blind forces of brute nature Basing the study on Kant's short but monumental Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals Kim also draws on other major writings by Kant and his critics Kim shows that philosophical ethics as Kant conceived it must capture the gist of the ineluctable inescapable and irreducible freedom we strive to exemplify in our practical lives Viewed this way the moral law is none other than the law of the will determining itself It is the law of the self activity of the will Contending that the concepts and doctrines in Kant's ethics should be understood as an ethics of the self activity of the will Kim argues that the categorical imperative is the particular way this moral law is addressed to finite rational beings Kant and the Foundations of Morality provides new perspective on the philosopher's thought to benefit studies of eighteenth century philosophy epistemology modern philosophy moral theory moral philosophy and ethics
