Here you will find a range of resources for both the student and the lecturer including: Over 350 interactive multiple choice questions; Flashcards; Glossary; Links to references and further reading; Illustrations from the book; Worksheets.

Mental Health for Beginners Celia Mae Stockworth, Mental health encompasses our emotional, psychological and social well being. It affects how we think, feel and act as we navigate through life. Just as we care for our physical health through exercise, proper nutrition and medical checkups, our mental health requires attention, understanding and maintenance. Mental health is not simply the absence of mental illness, but rather a state of well being where individuals can cope with normal stresses, work productively and contribute to their communities. The World Health Organization defines mental health as a state of well being in which every individual realizes their potential, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully, and is able to make a contribution to their community. This definition emphasizes that mental health is about thriving, not just surviving. It's about feeling good about yourself, maintaining healthy relationships and having the resilience to bounce back from life's inevitable challenges. Mental health exists on a spectrum. We all have mental health, just as we all have physical health. Sometimes we feel mentally strong and resilient, other times we may struggle with stress, anxiety or sadness. These fluctuations are normal parts of the human experience. However, when these struggles persist and significantly interfere with our daily functioning, relationships or quality of life, it may indicate a mental health condition that could benefit from professional support.

Mental Hygiene Bulletin Frankwood Earl Williams, 1923 The Complete Mental Health Directory Richard Gottlieb, 2006-03 Provides comprehensive coverage of 27 specific mental health disorders from adjustment disorders to tic disorders, including a separate section devoted to pediatric and adolescent issues, as well as support systems and other resources.
