Carina H. Keskitalo, Nigel Bankes, 2010-03-12 Climate change is affecting the Arctic environment and ecosystems at an accelerating speed twice the rate of the global average This is opening the Arctic to transportation and resource development and creating serious challenges for local communities and indigenous peoples Climate Governance in the Arctic considers two aspects of climate change from an institutional perspective It focuses on how relevant regimes institutions and governance systems support mitigation of climate change It also examines the extent to which the varying governance arrangements in the Arctic support adaptation and the development of adaptation processes for the region The book's focus on Arctic governance offers unique insights within climate change mitigation and adaptation research The Peacekeeping Economy Lloyd J. Dumas, 2011-01-01 The idea that military strength is virtually synonymous with security is deeply entrenched and widely held But while the threat or use of military force may sometimes be necessary it cannot keep us as safe as we would be by building relationships that replace hostility with a sense of mutual purpose and mutual gain Economic relationships says Lloyd J Dumas can offer a far more effective and far less costly means of maintaining security After defining the right kind of economic relationship one that is balanced and nonexploitative emphasizes development and minimizes environmental damage Dumas then addresses some practical concerns in establishing and maintaining these relationships He also considers the practical problems of the transition from military based security arrangements to economic peacekeeping and the effects of demilitarized security on economic development and prosperity Global Community Randall E. interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on climate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world
