State Of War And Peace Atlas:

The State of War and Peace Atlas Dan Smith,1997 The New State of War and Peace Michael Kidron,Dan Smith,1991 A vivid blending of data and presentation an all new atlas showing where the world s armies are who is fighting whom and what it all means for our common future Current through August 1990 and as can be updated Includes 37 full color maps a chronology of all wars fought since 1945 and a complete index The Atlas of War and Peace Dan Smith,Ane Bræin,2003 Dan Smith presents a comprehensive and easy to use reference that provides a global overview of conflicts and military trends at the start of the 21st century The Power of Maps Denis Wood,John Fels,1992-01-01 This volume ventures into terrain where even the most sophisticated map fails to lead through the mapmaker s bias Denis Wood shows how maps are not impartial reference objects but rather instruments of communication persuasion and power Like paintings they express a point of view By connecting us to a reality that could not exist in the absence of maps a world of property lines and voting rights taxation districts and enterprise zones they embody and project the interests of their creators Sampling the scope of maps available today illustrations include Peter Gould s AIDS map Tom Van Sant s map of the earth U S Geological Survey maps and a child s drawing of the world THE POWER OF MAPS was published in conjunction with an exhibition at the Cooper Hewitt Museum the Smithsonian Institution s National Museum of Design The New State of War and Peace Michael Kidron,Dan Smith,1991-01-01 The People's War Book and Pictorial Atlas of the World Ferdinand Foch,Harry S. Canfield,1920 War and Data on Armed Conflicts Motomichi Igarashi,2024-12-01 This book is the first to provide a comprehensive examination of the entities responsible for the production of data on armed conflicts DAC the processes by which it is generated and the international norms that govern it While numerous studies have focused on the statistical aspects of armed conflicts this book distinguishes itself through its historical analysis of the relationship between actors data generation methods and international norms The book begins with an examination of the nature of data in international politics The vast scale of the subjects being analyzed presents significant challenges to accurately measuring international political data with war being particularly difficult to assess This raises the question of how DAC has been structured and generated The book highlights the existence of specific international norms as a basis for DAC It explores the history of international norms for the protection of war dead in collecting casualty information as well as norms for civilian protection The book posits that DAC has been generated not only by sovereign states but also by global networks comprising international organizations and NGOs It thus analyzes the historical development of such global networks In the latter part of the book the methods by which global networks generate DAC are analyzed First it clarifies when and how statistical analysis has been used in generating DAC Second it elucidates when and how forensic analysis primarily of corpses has been employed Thirdly the book reveals when and how chemical weapons analysis has been utilized This book offers a valuable investigation into the generative structure of DAC and mechanisms for ensuring compliance with international humanitarian law It will appeal to a broad audience of policymakers human rights activists humanitarian practitioners and academics
