Stealing Gods Thunder:

Stealing God's Thunder Philip Dray, 2005-08-02 We forget living in this era of heavily patented research and closely guarded results how wonderfully exciting the scientific world used to be In Stealing God's Thunder the story of Benjamin Franklin's invention of the lightning rod and the resulting consequences that sense of wonder and excitement and even fear comes beautifully to life Philip Dray does a remarkable job of illuminating the ever fascinating Franklin and more than that the way that he and his invention helped create the new scientific world Deborah Blum author of Love at Goon Park Harry Harlow and the Science of Affection Stealing God's Thunder is a concise richly detailed biography of Benjamin Franklin viewed through the lens of his scientific inquiry and its ramifications for American democracy Today we think of Benjamin Franklin as a founder of American independence who also dabbled in science But in Franklin's day it was otherwise Long before he was an eminent statesman he was famous for his revolutionary scientific work especially his experiments with lightning and electricity Pulitzer Prize finalist Philip Dray uses the evolution of Franklin's scientific curiosity and empirical thinking as a metaphor for America's struggle to establish its fundamental values Set against the backdrop of the Enlightenment and America's pursuit of political equality for all Stealing God's Thunder recounts how Franklin unlocked one of the greatest natural mysteries of his day the seemingly unknowable powers of electricity and lightning Rich in historic detail and based on numerous primary sources Stealing God's Thunder is a fascinating original look at one of our most beloved and complex founding fathers

Brilliant Jane Brox, 2010-06-29 This superb history of artificial light traces the evolution of society invariably fascinating and often original it amply lives up to its title Publishers Weekly starred review In Brilliant Jane Brox explores humankind's ever changing relationship to artificial light from the stone lamps of the Pleistocene to the LEDs embedded in fabrics of the future More than a survey of technological development this sweeping history reveals how artificial light changed our world and how those social and cultural changes in turn led to the pursuit of more ways of spreading maintaining and controlling light Brox plumbs the class implications of light who had it who didn't through the centuries when crude lamps and tallow candles constricted waking hours She identifies the pursuit of whale oil as the first time the need for light thrust us toward an environmental tipping point Only decades later gas street lights opened up the evening hours to leisure which changed the ways we live and sleep and the world's ecosystems Edison's bulbs produced a light that seemed to its users all but divorced from human effort or cost And yet as Brox's informative portrait of our current grid system shows the cost is ever with us Brilliant is infused with human voices startling insights and timely questions about how our future lives will be shaped by light

Williams,2009-07-01 The sleeper history hit of 2008 released in paperback to coincide with the heart of hurricane season On September 2 1775 the eighth deadliest Atlantic hurricane of all time landed on American shores Over the next days it would race up the East Coast striking all of the important colonial capitols and killing more than four thousand people In an era when hurricanes were viewed as omens from God what this storm signified to the colonists about the justness of their cause would yield unexpected results Drawing on ordinary individuals and well known founders like Washington and Franklin Tony Williams paints a stunning picture of life at the dawn of the American Revolution and of the weighty choice people faced at that deciding moment Hurricane of Independence brings to life an incredible time when the forces of nature and the forces of history joined together to produce courageous stories of sacrifice strength and survival Melville's Other Lives

Christopher Sten,2022-07-19 Melville s Other Lives is the first book length study on The Piazza Tales Herman Melville s only authorized collection of short fiction published in his lifetime and the first book to explore the rich and varied subject of embodiment in any published collection of Melville s stories As Christopher Sten shows all of the stories in The Piazza Tales present encounters between established white male figures a writer a lawyer a ship captain a homeowner an architect a world traveler and characters who are outsiders minorities outcasts or others a seamstress an office drudge enslaved Africans a traveling salesman island castaways the poor In each Melville concentrates on the trials of the human body its pain and trauma its struggles and frustrations Some tales concern common trials such as illness or invalidism The Piazza the tedium of office work Bartleby or the aggravation of door to door salesmen The Lightning Rod Man Others concern extraordinary trials the traumatic violence of a rebellion on a slave ship Benito Cereno the hardships of surviving on a wasteland archipelago The Encantadas the perils of creating a monstrous man machine The Bell Tower In their concern for the cultural meanings of such trials Melville s stories look forward to the work of Michel Foucault Raymond Williams and other cultural materialists who have shown how cultures define control and oppress bodies based on their otherness As a storyteller Melville understood how such cultural dynamics operate and seized on our collective obsession with the human body as subject symbol and vehicle to dramatize his tales Healthy American Families John H. Scanzoni, 2010-04-22 This fascinating book compares progressive and more religiously conservative views and their differing impacts on the health of families Rejecting the definition of family promulgated by the Religious Right Healthy American Families A Progressive Alternative to the Religious Right offers an innovative approach to understanding 21st century families Proactive rather than reactive it explores the ways families have changed over the past 200 years and builds on that to elucidate the larger forces that continue to redefine male and female roles and the shape of the modern family unit Part one of the book shows that the Religious Right's claim that a Golden Age of Families existed when our country began is fallacious Instead families have been changing since the days of the Puritans Part two picks up the threads to show how in the wake of those changes most of today's families are healthier than families at the time of our country's founding Healthy families the book asserts spring from a blend of conservative ideals responsibility and accountability and liberal ideals innovation and change The result is responsible change that benefits both the individual and society Current Anthropological Literature, 1912 A Concordance to the Poems of Robert Browning Leslie Nathan Broughton, Benjamin Franklin Stelter, 1925 The romance of my life Edith Saville, 1883 Perse Playbooks Perse School (Cambridge, England), 1912 Paradise of the Pacific, 1903 Benjamin Franklin John T. Lynch, 2010 This title includes in depth critical discussions of his life and works Perhaps no figure is more central to the myth and promise of America than Benjamin Franklin A true Renaissance man Franklin conducted scientific experiments wrote political satires and treatises and is credited with numerous inventions As volume editor Jack Lynch points out Franklin's name is the only name that appears on the four most important documents in the establishment of the United States the Declaration of Independence the Treaty of Paris the Treaty of Alliance with France and the United States Constitution Edited and introduced by 18th century scholar Jack Lynch Professor of English at Rutgers University Newark this volume examines several facets of America's most famous polymath Lynch's introduction considers the essays collected in this volume as he tries to pin down the iconic and larger than life Franklin Clark Davis provides a biography of Franklin after which Bradley Bazzle considers the Autobiography as a central part of the American creation myth part memoir part performance Original essays by Neil Heims Gurdip Panesar Maura Grace Harrington and Matthew Bolton collectively consider Franklin his times and his impact on American Culture Heims examines the culture of 18th Century America and the very public figure of Franklin while Panesar considers the difficulties critics have had in painting a complete portrait of Franklin due in large part to his multifacetedness Maura Grace Harrington looks at the Autobiography through the lens of fatherhood both personal and spiritual while Matthew Bolton offers an original interpretation of the so called Lost Generation as a response to Franklin's legacy The selection of reprinted essays begins with Sherry Ann Beaudrea and Stanley Finger's examination of the legacies of Franklin and his Dutch born medical correspondent Jan Ingenhousz This essay is followed by one by Betsy Erkkila who suggests Franklin was partially responsible for a new conceptualization of the body A Owen Aldridge provides both careful close reading and a thorough consideration of biographical contexts in his consideration of Franklin's The Elysian Fields. Aldridge is followed by Jennifer Jordan Baker who argues that it's impossible to make sense of Franklin's world without an understanding of the economic situation his country faced. Jennifer T. Kennedy's essay is a consideration of Franklin the printer confronting death and his writing as a kind of repetition. In the volume's penultimate essay Christina Lupton examines artistic recycling in both Franklin and Laurence Stern while in the volume's final essay Ralph Frasca considers Franklin in the context of his support of the freedom and responsibility of the press. Each essay is 5,000 words in length and all essays conclude with a list of Works Cited along with endnotes.

Out of the Cradle Into the World Thomas Benjamin Atkins, 1895 Between the Living and the Dead Éva Pócs, 1999. The author, one of the most highly respected scholars of historical anthropology, has undertaken extensive research on folk beliefs related to communication with the supernatural sphere. In this book she examines the systems of such communication known by early modern Hungarians and the role these systems played in the everyday life of the village. New types of mediators are identified such as the neighborhood witch, the healing witch, and the demons seen in dreams. Representing a major contribution to the most up-to-date international research, Eva Pócs draws on significant East European material and literature not previously coordinated with that from the West. In so doing she makes a valuable contribution to a subject that has recently attracted the attention of several leading scholars.
