Super 8 Jonathan F. Gunter, Unesco, 1976 The Lost Cinema of Mexico Olivia Cosentino, Brian Price, 2022-02-08 This volume challenges the dismissal of Mexican filmmaking during the 1960s through 1980s an era long considered a low budget departure from the nation's earlier Golden Age examining the critical implications of discovering uncovering and recovering forgotten or ignored films

Amateur Media and Participatory Cultures Annamaria Motrescu-Mayes, Susan Aasman, 2019-01-23 Amateur Media and Participatory Cultures aims to delineate the boundary line between today's amateur media practice and the canons of professional media and film practice Identifying various feasible interpretative frameworks from historical to anthropological perspectives the volume proposes a critical language able to cope with amateur and new media's rapid technological and interpretative developments Conscious of the fact that amateur media continue to be seen as the benchmark of visual records of authentic rather than mass media derived events Annamaria Motrescu Mayes and Susan Aasman pay particular attention to the ways in which diverse sets of concepts of amateur media have now merged across global visual narratives and everyday communication protocols Building on key research questions and content analysis in media and communication studies they have assessed differences between professional and amateur media productions based on the ways in which the originators of an image have been influenced by or have challenged their context of production This proposes that technical skills degrees of staging and or censoring visual information and patterns in media socialisation define central differences between professional and amateur media production distribution and consumption The book's methodical and interdisciplinary approach provides valuable insights into the ways in which visual priming cultural experiences and memory building are currently shaped stored and redistributed across new media technologies and visual channels

Unearthing Collections Magdalena Buchczyk, Martín Fonck, Tomás J. Usón, Tina Palaić, 2025-11-24 Unearthing Collections invites readers to reconsider the ethics of collections and archives through the lens of temporality Drawing on case studies that range from community protests over glacial sampling to the ethical dilemmas of housing human remains in museum collections and acquiring ephemeral political art the authors interrogate the urgent challenges of collecting displaying and preserving traces The book is framed around the concept of unearthing the process of revealing hidden truths excavating layers of history and uncovering the unknown It explores how the pursuit of knowledge often comes at the cost of displacement exploitation commodification and the enduring legacies of imperialism and colonialism Alongside critique of the extractive practices that shaped many collections and archives the book proposes a shift towards re earthing a practice that reconfigures how we understand and engage with knowledge about traces As a critical approach re earthing acknowledges the messy entangled nature of traces of the past rejecting attempts to purify or control them in collections and archives so they may evolve into new forms of knowledge This innovative perspective challenges scholars archivists artists and collection practitioners to rethink their approach to time and trace urging them to disrupt dominant chronologies and cultivate new ethical approaches for working with collections and archives Portable Moving Images Ricardo Cedeño Montaña,2017-08-21 This media history explores a series of portable small cameras playback devices and storage units that have made the production of film and video available to everyone Covering several storage formats from 8mm films of the 1900s through the analogue videotapes of the 1970s to the compression algorithms of the 2000s this work examines the effects that the shrinkage of complex machines media formats and processing operations has had on the dissemination of moving images Using an archaeological approach to technical standards of media the author provides a genealogy of portable storage formats for film analog video and digitally encoded video This book is a step forward in decoding the storage media formats which up to now have been the domain of highly specialised technicians Big as Life ,1998 The "fading Family Farm" Film Michael J.
