The Bulgarian Cinema Ronald Holloway, 1986 This survey of Bulgarian cinema from its beginning to its present situation under the current government reveals this country's vital and original filmmakers at work expressing and continuing their nation's rich artistic and cultural heritage

The Conformists Evgenija Garbolevsky, 2011-05-25 The complexities and paradoxes of the Bulgarian film industry during the era of Communist rule 1945-1989 are explored This influential industry was mobilized for the needs of the state During its creation and development cultural institutions and those involved in film production operated within a relatively closed system based on rewards and punishments imposed by the Communist bureaucratic apparatus Sub-textual content in films produced in Bulgaria during this period highlights the attitude of the elite towards the regime Understanding this multifaceted relationship helps explain why so many intellectuals found the film industry to be an attractive field in which to work and decided to remain loyal to the regime instead of leaving or openly rebelling against it This work challenges the historiographical perception that the arts in the Eastern Bloc during the Cold War were largely unsuccessful vehicles of propaganda and dissent By using a comparative methodological approach the cinema arts in the East and West are shown following similar paths despite the Iron Curtain Provided by publisher

Presentday Bulgarian Cinema Mariia Racheva, 1969 New Bulgarian Cinema Dina Iordanova, 2008 Described by Ron Holloway as a poetic cinema since 1989 Bulgaria's film industry underwent testing times Dina Iordanova's comprehensive study discusses the ups and downs of the national film tradition in the post-communist period

Presentday Bulgarian Cinema (Classic Reprint) Maria Racheva, 2017-11-22 Excerpt from Presentday Bulgarian Cinema It would have been sad indeed if Bulgaria had not had its Don Quixotes I should like to add that the prospects of our cinematography were really dim for 15 years after Griffith and Eisenstein five years after The Great Game and The Grand Illusion and at the time of Welles's Citizen Kane it was shooting films with cameras whose noise was a cross between the clanking of a dilapidated sewing machine and the roar of a stone crusher When all film producing equipment was taken over by the state in 1948 luck gave way to security enthusiasm to professionalism and the film makers by chance became film makers by calling This act launched the Bulgarian national cinema art on its speedy and surprising development This is what film director Zahari Zhandov a contemporary wrote about it About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Cinema, State Socialism and Society in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, 1917-1989 Sanja Bahun, John Haynes,2014-07-25 This book presents a comprehensive re examination of the cinemas of the Soviet Union and Central and Eastern Europe during the communist era It argues that since the end of communism in these countries film scholars are able to view these cinemas in a different way no longer bound by an outlook relying on binary Cold War terms With the opening of archives in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union much more is known about these states and societies at the same time the field has been reinvigorated by its opening up to more contemporary concepts themes and approaches in film studies and adjacent disciplines Taking stock of these developments this book presents a rich varied tapestry relating specific films to specific national and transnational circumstances rather than viewing them as a single monolithic Cold War
