Statische Gedichte:

Gottfried Benn's Static Poetry Mark William Roche, 2020-05-01 This book consists of close readings of four poems illustrating Gottfried Benn's developing conception of stillness or stasis: Trunkene Flut (1927), Wer allein ist (1936), Statische Gedichte (1944), and Reisen (1950). Mark Roche pays particular attention to the interrelation of form and content and he uncovers previously overlooked allusions to thinkers such as Aristotle, Seneca, and Meister Eckhart. Benn's supposedly pure poetry of stasis is in reality an expression of opposition to Nazi ideology, Roche argues, and should be viewed in the context of inner emigration. Nevertheless, Benn's opposition to Nazism unwittingly rests on the same decisionistic foundation as the power positivism he deplores. Benn's well-intentioned critique of Nazism is ultimately unsuccessful. The book concludes with a theoretical postscript that suggests ways in which intellectual history could be made productive for literary interpretation and provides arguments in favor of an aesthetic analysis attentive to both formal structures and philosophical coherence.

The Modern Restoration Stephen Parker, Peter Davies, Matthew Philpotts, 2012-04-17 This book seeks to move twentieth-century German literary history away from its stubbornly persistent reliance on the political turning points of 1933 and 1945. In the first part of the book, the authors analyze a synchronic corpus of literary journals, identifying a restorative aesthetic mood in the years 1930-1960 which persists across political date boundaries. In the second part, the careers of five writers are considered diachronically against this prevailing restorative climate: Gottfried Benn, Johannes R. Becher, Bertolt Brecht, Günter Eich, and Peter Huchel. Combining these two approaches, the authors show that a fresh perspective that challenges established literary historical periodisations can shed light on the common cultural and aesthetic ground shared by writers, editors, and critics across the ideological divides of the era.

The Emergence of West German Poetry from the Second World War into the Early Post-war Period Anthony Bushell, 1989 Drawing on a broad selection of West German poetry appearing in the early post-war years, this study attempts to establish not only the range and nature of these poetic works but also the contributory forces and constraints upon poets in coming to terms with a defeated and occupied Germany. The dismissive attitude in later criticism towards the genre of this period is seen to be based on a failure to appreciate certain developments within poetry since Baudelaire. These developments made it uniquely difficult for poetry to respond in convincing aesthetic terms to the historical reality of war and the Third Reich. Those poets who did attempt to reflect directly upon Germany's past from the perspective of a provisional presence are shown to have had recourse to markedly regressive poetic forms, and their work is the subject of detailed analysis.

Statische Gedichte Gottfried Benn, 2021-01-22 Die Gedichte dieses Bandes entstanden zwischen 1937 und 1947. Ihre Publikation im Arche Literatur Verlag führte 1948 zum literarischen Comeback Gottfried Benns und machte ihn zu einer Leitfigur der jungen Bundesrepublik. In den statischen Gedichten erzählt Benn von einer tiefen Sehnsucht nach der Ferne, aber auch von Verblendung und der dunklen Vergangenheit seines Heimatlandes. Michigan Germanic studies, 1989 The PIP Anthology of World Poetry of the 20th

Century Douglas Messerli, 2000 Influenced in part by Jerome Rothenberg's and Pierre Joris's groundbreaking 20th century poetry anthology in two volumes Poems for the Millennium A Book of Modern and Postmodern Poetry publisher editor Douglas Messerli began in 1995 to edit his own international anthology Enthused with the range and vast numbers of wonderful poets writing in all languages Messerli determined to publish three volumes of about 1 200 pages each But as his research continued he came quickly to realize that even a project this vast one of enormous expense and a near impossible commitment of time and resources would not sufficiently reveal the panopoly of world poetry in the 20th century Messerli began publishing more international poetry through his presses Sun Moon and Green Integer and in 1998 he founded the Project for Innovative Poetry PIP with an advisory board of major international poets and critics to explore ways to publish world poetry in English To achieve the publication of his omnibus anthology he decided to publish two volumes each containing 20 to 22 poets each year until he had completed his task Containing brief biographies complete listings of each author's books of poetry with publication information and a fairly large sampling of the poetry in translation this series will attempt to show what Messerli sees as a century of poetry of no safely contained modes of expression but rather as an energetic and often uncontrollable beast of language upon whose back the reader is taken to worlds that exist only in thinking itself
