Summer Darkness Winter Light:

Survival Strategies of Annual Desert Plants Yitzchak Gutterman,2012-12-06 Annual desert plant species of unrelated taxa in the Negev Desert of Israel have developed complementary sets of adaptations and survival strategies as ecological equivalents with physiological morphological and anatomical resemblances in the various stages of their life cycles After 40 years of research in hot deserts Yitzchak Gutterman provides a comprehensive treatise of such adaptations and strategies In doing so he covers the following topics post maturation primary seed dormancy which prevents germination of maturing seeds before the summer seed dispersal mechanisms with escape or protection strategies cautious or opportunistic germination strategies seedling drought tolerance The day length is an important factor in regulating flowering as well as the phenotypic plasticity of seed germination which is also affected by maternal factors Seed Germination in Desert Plants

Yitzchak Gutterman,2012-12-06 During germination the most resistant stage of the life cycle the seed changes to the most sensitive stage namely the seedling Therefore in desert plant species seed dispersal and subsequent germination in the optimum time and place are particularly critical parameters Discussed here are the ways and means by which desert plants have adapted through the course of evolution to their extreme environment Two such strategies which have evolved are a plants with relatively large and protected seeds which germinate when the chance of seedling survival is high and the risk relatively low or b those with an opportunistic strategy minute seeds which germinate after low rainfall under high risk for seedling survival if additional rain does not follow Most species adopt a combination of the two mechanisms Species have adapted both genotypically and phenotypically both aspects of which are also discussed in this thorough text The reader is provided with a good understanding of the complex influences on each seed traced through from initial development to germination stage regarding germination preparation and subsequent survival Nation's Traffic ,1928 The Marconi Review ,1930 English Mechanic and World of Science ,1875 The Highway Engineer & Contractor ,1920
