Computing Attitude and Affect in Text: Theory and Applications James G. Shanahan, Yan Qu, Janyce Wiebe, 2006-01-17
Human Language Technology HLT and Natural Language Processing NLP systems have typically focused on the factual aspect of content analysis Other aspects including pragmatics opinion and style have received much less attention However to achieve an adequate understanding of a text these aspects cannot be ignored The chapters in this book address the aspect of subjective opinion which includes identifying different points of view identifying different emotive dimensions and classifying text by opinion Various conceptual models and computational methods are presented The models explored in this book include the following distinguishing attitudes from simple factual assertions distinguishing between the author's reports from reports of other people's opinions and distinguishing between explicitly and implicitly stated attitudes In addition many applications are described that promise to benefit from the ability to understand attitudes and affect including indexing and retrieval of documents by opinion automatic question answering about opinions analysis of sentiment in the media and in discussion groups about consumer products political issues etc brand and reputation management discovering and predicting consumer and voting trends analyzing client discourse in therapy and counseling determining relations between scientific texts by finding reasons for citations generating more appropriate texts and making agents more believable and creating writers aids The studies reported here are carried out on different languages such as English French Japanese and Portuguese Difficult challenges remain however It can be argued that analyzing attitude and affect in text is an NLP complete problem

1001 Questions and Answers on the Theory and Practice of Teaching Benjamin Adams Hathaway,1886 Dada's Manifestos and Peter Bürger's Theory of the Avant-garde Marco Hompes,2011-01-18 Essay from the year 2010 in the subject Art Art Theory General grade 8 5 University of Amsterdam Cultural Analysis course Art as an Institute and its Critique language English abstract 1 Introduction The avant garde intends the abolition of autonomous art by which it means that art is to be integrated into the praxis of life At least this is what Peter B rger states in his groundbreaking book Theory of the Avant garde In the book B rger gives some examples that shall acknowledge and prove his theory e g Ren Magritte or Marcel Duchamp It is clear that such examples need to stay eclectic in order to fit the developed theory In the following B rger s text will be put to the acid test by analysing some avant garde works through the eyes of Peter B rger and it shall be examined if specific programmatic avant gardist works go well with his theory The manifestos by the first Dadaists in Z rich seem to be extremely useful for this attempt Their productions haven t been canonised yet and have served as an example for further Dadaistic productions in Germany the USA the Netherlands Romania Georgia Poland etc They excessively produced manifestos and declared their ideals and plans However these declarations always remain a bit opaque as they avoid clear statements and explicitly write absurd In their works the Dadas often make statements and shortly afterwards reject them again Tristan Tzara s manifestos are great examples of this kind of text therefore this paper focuses on his writings but will consider manifestos by Walter Serner thoughts by Marcel Janco or Hugo Ball as well Can Theory of the Avant garde be a key to excerpt meaning from the Dadaistic text production or do the manifestos go beyond B rger s theory or even prove him wrong
