5 Edition Conscious Consumerism:

Handbook of Research on Consumerism and Buying Behavior in Developing Nations Gbadamosi, Ayantunji, 2016-05-31

Having a grasp on what appeals to consumers and how consumers are making purchasing decisions is essential to the success of any organization that thrives by offering a product or service. Despite the importance of consumer knowledge and understanding, research based insight into the buying patterns and consumption habits of individuals in emerging nations remains limited. The Handbook of Research on Consumerism and Buying Behavior in Developing Nations takes a critical look at the often overlooked opportunities available for driving consumer demand and interest in developing countries.

Emphasizing the power of the consumer market in emerging economies and their overall role in the global market system, this edited volume features research based perspectives on consumer perception, behavior, and relationship management across industries. This timely publication is an essential resource for marketing professionals, consumer researchers, international business strategists, scholars, and graduate level students.

Framework for Marketing Management, A, Global Edition Philip Kotler, Kevin Lane Keller, 2015-06-11. For graduate and undergraduate courses in marketing management. The book's efficient coverage of current marketing management practices makes for a short yet thorough text that provides the perfect supplement for incorporated simulations, projects, and cases. The Sixth Edition approaches the topic of marketing from a current standpoint, focusing its information and strategy on the realities of 21st century marketing. Individuals, groups, and companies alike can modernize their marketing strategies to comply with 21st century standards by engaging in this succinct yet comprehensive text.

Environmental Policy and Household Behaviour Patrik Soderholm, 2013-07-04. Our behaviour in our own homes, our recycling habits, consumer choices, and transport preferences all have a huge impact on the environment, locally and globally. Governments across the world are trying to formulate and implement policies to encourage and enforce more sustainable household actions. Yet so often these policies fail to have the desired effects because of a lack of understanding of the complex interplay of policy and individual behaviour. This book examines this interplay, looking at the role of values, attitudes, and constraints in the links between policy and changing behaviour at the household level. The first part of the book explores the theoretical background, looking at the politics of lifestyles and lifestyle change, policy legitimacy, and barriers and facilitators for pro environmental behaviour. The second part is made up of in depth case studies from Sweden, one of the fore running countries in this area, examining three main types of household behaviour: waste and recycling, consumption and labelling, and transportation choices. Within these case studies, the contributors examine what policy initiatives have and haven't worked, and the role of values and constraints in those processes. This is the first inter disciplinary in depth look at how environmental policy enters the private domestic sphere. The theoretical insights and policy guidance the book offers will be vital in the drive to generate behaviour change at the household level and the move towards sustainable societies
