Academic Writing Ilona Leki, 1998-07-13 This book provides instruction on the process writers go through to produce texts. It teaches attention to form, format, and accuracy. The central goals of the Student's Book are to teach the process that writers go through to produce texts and to provide instructions on how to meet the demands of the academy by attention to form and accuracy. One half of the book is devoted to leading the student through the process of writing from observation and experience. About a quarter of the book focuses on helping the student solve the writing problems typical of university-level course work. The remaining part of the book contains an anthology of readings that correspond to the assignments used in the earlier portions of the text. Through an emphasis on the academic applications of writing and on exploring processes and strategies, this text helps students produce, prepare, and polish their writing. Writing and Technique David N. Dobrin, 1989 This book examines the ways that writing is taught in this age of technology. The book begins with writing about tools; technical writing considers writing itself as a tool and concludes with tools that aid writing. The aim is to study the interpenetration of writing and technology in order to determine how technology has affected writing. The book is allied with a tradition of opposition to technology and to the main thrust of composition research over the last 10 years. Writing, it is concluded, is not reducible to technology because it is an activity rooted in meaning and human relations. Chapter topics cover: 1. the technology of writing, 2. common sense in communications, 3. technical writing, 4. information transfer, 5. objectivity of technical writing, 6. audience awareness, 7. use and purpose of outlines, 8. paragraph structure, and 9. computers and the techniques of writing. A summary chart of the discussion notes and reference list are appended. RS

Writing With Power Peter Elbow, 1998-07-09 A classic handbook for anyone who needs to write. Writing With Power speaks to everyone who has wrestled with words while seeking to gain power with them. Here Peter Elbow emphasizes that the essential activities underlying good writing and the essential exercises promoting it are really not difficult at all. Employing a cookbook approach, Elbow provides the reader and writer with various recipes for getting words down on paper, for revising, for dealing with an audience, for getting feedback on a piece of writing, and still other recipes for approaching the mystery of power in writing. In a new introduction, he offers his reflections on the original edition, discusses the responses from people who have followed his techniques, how his methods may differ from other processes, and how his original topics are still pertinent to today's writer. By taking risks and embracing mistakes, Elbow hopes the writer may somehow find a hold on the creative process and be able to heighten two mentalities: the production of writing and the revision of it. From students and teachers to novelists and poets, Writing with Power reminds us that we can celebrate the uses of mystery, chaos, nonplanning, and magic while achieving analysis, conscious control, explicitness, and care in whatever it is we set down on paper.

Pathways Through Writing Blocks in the Academic Environment Kate Evans, 2013-04-19 Writing blocks are likely to strike any writer, even experienced ones, at some time or another. Academia has its own challenges which can provoke blocks particular to that environment Drawing on her knowledge as writer psychotherapeutic counsellor and university tutor Kate Evans has put together a book which addresses many of the differing aspects of writing blocks including looking at their emotional and psychological foundations With discussion and practical exercises this volume suggests that an infusion of creative techniques can offer pathways through writing blocks in the academic environment The case studies provide an in depth consideration of varying experiences of writing blocks The book is aimed at students with essays projects or reports to write or theses to tackle as well as academics who are working on articles and books It will also offer insights for supervisors who wish to support those who are writing and guidance for people running writing groups within academia Over all the book encourages a creative collaborative approach which aims to equip academics for writing within the context of the twenty first century This book offers something for every academic writer whether budding or experienced Students struggling with essays and dissertations will find many practical exercises along with invaluable advice More practised writers will encounter fresh insights I am confident that you the reader will enjoy this book which is itself a model of good writing Dr Linda Finlay the Open University UK
