Harold Alfred MacMichael

The Arabs In History:

The Arabs in History Bernard Lewis, 1950 For more than 50 years Lewis has strived mightily and successfully to explain the cultures and histories of Middle Eastern peoples to Western readers The task of writing a political history of the region has already been fulfilled by him and by many others In his latest work Lewis has chosen to accentuate the social economic and cultural changes that have occurred over 20 centuries He ranges from seemingly trivial concerns changes in dress and manners in an Arab coffeehouse to earth shaking events the Mongol conquest of Mesopotamia in painting a rich varied and fascinating portrait of a region that is steeped in traditionalism while often forced by geography and politics to accept change enormously influential history after reading Gibbon on Muhammad it is tempting to speculate that Lewis s long standing interest in the eighteenth century historian may have influenced his own ambition to scan grand horizons his taste for irony and his unmistakably elegant literary style Robert Irwin

Arabs in History Bernard Lewis, 2002-03-14 Whoever lives in our country speaks our language is brought up in our culture and takes pride in our glory is one of us Thus ran a declaration of modern leaders of Arab states But what exactly is an Arab and what has been their place in the course of human history In this well established classic Professor Lewis examines the key issues of Arab development their identity the national revival which cemented the creation of the Islamic state and the social and economic pressures that destroyed the Arab kingdom and created the Islamic empire He analyses the forces which contributed to that empire s eventual decline and the effects of growing Western influence Today with the Arab world facing profound social and political challenges it constitutes an essential introduction to the Arabs and their history
