Kundun Mary Craig, 1998-09-02 Here is the story of Tibet as told by its remarkable first family a story of reincarnation coronation heartbreaking exile and finally the tenacious efforts of a holy man to save a nation and its people Kundun is the first work to focus on the Dalai Lama's family his parents four brothers and two sisters Particularly compelling are Mary Craig's portraits of the Dalai Lama's siblings who have negotiated with China on behalf of their country enlisted the aid of international allies to spearhead Tibetan Resistance and worked tirelessly to help thousands of sick and starving refugee children This remarkable book opens in 1933 with the death of the thirteenth Dalai Lama and the frantic effort among Tibetan authorities to find his reincarnation In their search for a baby boy displaying the characteristic marks of a Dalai Lama tiger striped legs wide eyes large ears and palms bearing the pattern of a sea shell officials were led to a tiny village in northeastern Tibet home of Lhamo Dhondup a smart stubborn toddler already known for his tantrums Responding calmly when a group of high lamas and dignitaries tested his memory of a previous life the child easily recognized a rosary walking stick and drum belonging to the thirteenth Dalai Lama In an instant this little boy and his entire family were swept into a world of unending ritual and complex internal politics Lhamo was installed as the fourteenth Dalai Lama at the age of three and was known from that point on as His Holiness or Kundun the Presence titles even his family members were obliged to use A few years later the young Dalai Lama and his family were faced with China's invasion of Tibet Living in exile since the late 1950s they have waged a decades long struggle for the freedom of their country Particularly compelling are Craig's portraits of the Dalai Lama's siblings who have negotiated with China on behalf of their country enlisted the aid of international allies to spearhead Tibetan Resistance and worked tirelessly to help thousands of sick and starving refugee children

Blessings from Beijing Greg C. Bruno, 2018-04-03 As we approach the sixtieth anniversary of China's 1959 invasion of Tibet and the subsequent creation of the Tibetan exile community the question of the diaspora's survival looms large Beijing's foreign policy has grown more adventurous particularly since the post Olympic expansion of 2008 As the pressure mounts Tibetan refugee families that have made their homes outside China in the mountains of Nepal the jungles of India or the cold concrete houses high above the Dalai Lama's monastery in Dharamsala are migrating once again Blessings from Beijing untangles the chains that tie Tibetans to China and examines the political social and economic pressures that are threatening to destroy Tibet's refugee communities Journalist Greg Bruno has spent nearly two decades living and working in Tibetan areas Bruno journeys to the front lines of this fight to the high Himalayas of Nepal where Chinese agents pay off Nepali villagers to inform on Tibetan asylum seekers to the monasteries of southern India where pro China monks wish the Dalai Lama dead to Asia s meditation caves where lost souls ponder the fine line between love and war and to the streets of New York City where the next generation of refugees strategizes about how to survive China s relentless assault But Bruno s reporting does not stop at well worn tales of Chinese meddling and political intervention It goes beyond them and within them to explore how China s strategy is changing the Tibetan exile community forever Tibet John Pinfeld,1991 Diary of a Journey Across Tibet Sir Hamilton Bower,1894 Tibetan Refugees in India Rajesh S.
