Dislocation: Awkward Spatial Transitions Philip Cooke, 2021-05-17 Today the world is in the most serious turmoil it has experienced for many centuries These multiple crises arise from the fundamental mistreatment by capitalist competition of the carrying capacity of the planet Even before coronavirus evidently morbid symptoms of over development led many spatial planners to write of the threat of a new Dark Age Many advocated a return to policy decentralisation as the Covid 19 crisis demonstrated once again the failure of global controller mindsets to manage complex systems successfully Dislocation

Awkward Spatial Transitions is a critical exploration of where spatial development processes and rules have gone wrong across many economies The chapters lay out which mindsets have been responsible for this and gives pointers to new practices that aim to ameliorate the effects of past failings In the first nine chapters a mapping of key elements of the prevailing omni crisis are summarised These range from an exegesis of the Anthropocene the rise of populism the transition to neoliberalist anti planning and migration as planning issues with pleas for evolutionary change in spatial policy and process dynamics Finally a group of chapters explores the flailing as territorial governances tried to plot the rise of creative cities 4 0 era industry and services and in the built form the role of starchitects in city renewal In the last part attention is devoted to territorial innovation knowledge recombination sustainable mobility and finally green entrepreneurship as necessary elements of a post coronavirus climate change mitigation and sustainable mobility set of survival strategies The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal European Planning Studies
