The Arabic:

The Arabic Language C. H. M. Versteegh, 1997 This general introduction to the Arabic Language now available in paperback places special emphasis on the history and variation of the language Concentrating on the difference between the two types of Arabic the Classical standard language and the dialects Kees Versteegh charts the history and development of the Arabic language from the earliest beginnings to modern times The reader is offered a solid grounding in the structure of the language its historical context and its use in various literary and non literary genres as well as an understanding of the role of Arabic as a cultural religious and political world language Intended as an introductory guide for students of Arabic it will also be a useful tool for discussions both from a historical linguistic and from a socio linguistic perspective Coverage includes all aspects of the history of Arabic the Arabic linguistic tradition Arabic dialects and Arabic as a world language Links are made between linguistic history and cultural history while the author emphasises the role of contacts between Arabic and other languages This important book will be an ideal text for all those wishing to acquire an understanding or develop their knowledge of the Arabic language Arabic Language Kees Versteegh, 2014-05-20 An introductory guide for students of Arabic language Arabic historical linguistics and Arabic sociolinguistics The Arabic Language Today A.F.L. Beeston, 2016-10-04 This book first published in 1970 provides a description of the standard Arabic language used today as the universal means of written communication throughout the Arab world and in formal spoken communication vernaculars differ both from each other and from the standard language The principal emphasis is on syntax and morphology of which there exists no comprehensive account Phonology and lexicon are treated briefly and there is a chapter on the script

History and Development of the Arabic Language Muhammad al-Sharkawi, 2016-11-25 History and Development of the Arabic Language is a general introduction for students to the history of the Arabic language It is divided into two parts the pre Islamic language up to the emergence of the first well known works of Classical Arabic Secondly the transition from the pre Islamic situation to the complex Arabic language forms after the emergence of Islam and the Arab conquests both in Arabia and in the diaspora The book focuses on the pre Islamic linguistic situation where the linguistic geography and relevant demographic aspects of pre Islamic Arabia will be introduced In addition the book will also discuss the communicative contexts and varieties of Modern Arabic The book includes readings discussion questions and data sets to provide a complete textbook and resource for teachers and students of the history of Arabic An Arabic vocabulary for Egypt. The Arabic by Lûtfi Yûssef Ayrût Frederick Ewart Robertson, 1898 Poetics of Love in the Arabic Novel Wen-chin Ouyang, 2012-06-20 Considers the Arabic novel within the triangle of the nation state modernity and tradition Wen Chin Ouyang explores the development of the Arabic novel especially the ways in it engages with aesthetics ethics and politics in a cross cultural context and from a transnational perspective Taking love and desire as the central tropes the story of the Arabic novel is presented as a series of failed illegitimate love affairs all tainted by its suspicion of the legitimacy of the nation modernity and tradition and above all by its misgiving about its own propriety A Catalogue of the Arabic Manuscripts in the Library of the India Office Otto Loth, 1877 Politics of Nostalgia in the Arabic Novel Wen-chin Ouyang, 2013-01-21 Uncovers the politics of nostalgia and madness inherent in the Arabic novel The Arabic novel has taken shape in the intercultural networks of exchange between East and West past and present Wen chin Ouyang shows how this has created a politics of nostalgia which can be traced to discourses on aesthetics ethics and politics relevant to cultural and literary transformations of the Arabic speaking world in the 19th and 20th centuries She reveals nostalgia and madness as the tropes through which the Arabic novel writes its own story of grappling with and resisting the hegemony of both the state and cultural heritage The Arabic Language Anwar G. Chejne, 1968 The Arabic Language was first published in 1969 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions Arabic with its rich literary heritage is one of the major languages of the world It is spoken by about one hundred million people inhabiting a wide and important area of the Middle East Yet the language and its significant role in history are little known in the English speaking countries except among specialists This book will it is hoped help to introduce the language and demonstrate its importance to a wider audience Professor Philip K Hitti of Princeton University writes in the foreword Until recently Arabic studies in this country had been limited to the graduate level and confined to a few universities Since World War II they have inched their way to the undergraduate curriculum of a small number of universities But they are still top heavy and anemic They will so remain unless they send their roots deeper down into high schools and enlist the interest of a widening circle of nonspecialists Hence the value of this work by Professor Chejne It is a commendable attempt to introduce the Arabic language with its features and problems to students and nonspecialists to tell the story of its dramatic evolution from a tribal dialect to one of the few carriers of world culture to indicate its unique relation to the religion of Islam and its role in the development of modern Arab nationalism The book written in a language intelligible to the layman sums up what is already known and presents the contribution of the author The Structure of the Arabic Language Nikolaï Vladimirovich Iqshmanov, 1961 Showcasing the Role of the Arabic Language along the Silk Roads UNESCO, 2024-12-14 Oriental Tales: Tales from the Arabic ... done into English by John Payne, 1901 A grammar of the Arabic language, tr. and ed. by W. Wright Carl Paul Caspari, 1874 The Arabic Alphabet N. Awde, 2000-10-01 Ever larger numbers of people are starting to learn Arabic while even more have some contact with the Arab world Anyone who wishes to learn the language faces a hitherto formidable initial problem the alphabet This book proceeds step by step through all the letters of the Arabic alphabet showing the sounds they stand for and how they are combined into words Nothing essential is left out but no unnecessary complications are added Readers will find that progress is rapid and will be surprised at the relative ease with which they master the first steps in learning this increasingly important world language The Arabic Alphabet How to Read and Write It belongs on the desk of every student of the language in the luggage of every visitor to the Middle East in the briefcase of all business people with Arab clients and in the back pocket of all employees of British or American companies working for a time in an Arab country
