Thinking About Knowing:

Thinking, Knowing, Acting: Epistemology and Ethics in Plato and Ancient Platonism Mauro Bonazzi, Angela Ulacco, Filippo Forcignano, 2019-04-09 The volume Thinking Knowing Acting Epistemology and Ethics in Plato and Ancient Platonism aims to offer a fresh perspective on the correlation between epistemology and ethics a topic of central importance in the Platonic tradition which has not yet received the attention it deserves The first part deals with the social juridical premises of Plato's philosophy with particular regard to the relation between science and practical reason The second part investigates the reception and development of these problems in Aristotle and the Platonic tradition Other papers on Solon and Galen show that the conflict between knowledge and political action was also a central topic for the other Greek thinkers and contribute by contrast to a better evaluation of the originality of Platonism

Munsey's Magazine, 1917 Dodo Benson, 1894 Thinking about Knowing Jay Rosenberg, 2002-10-31 Jay Rosenberg offers a systematic philosophical theory of knowledge which is specifically responsive to the fact that we always engage the world from a particular perspective within it It consequently calls into question in a fundamental way many received understandings regarding the relationships among the concepts of knowledge belief justification and truth Thinking about Knowing's leading thesis is that we correctly ascribe knowledge to those whom from our de facto epistemic perspective we judge able adequately to justify the corresponding belief Since from any one epistemic perspective the judgments that a person has done everything he needs to do to be entitled to a confident belief and that he has done everything he needs to do to establish the truth of that belief stand or fall together a further truth requirement is vacuous and idle On this perspectivalist account unqualified knowledge attributions are always made only from our own epistemic perspective with reference to a determinate context of inquiry The theory is consequently both resolutely anti-skeptical and comprehensively fallibilistic The corresponding proceduralist conception of justification applying in the first instance to conducts of persons carries the further internalist consequence that a person's belief is justified only to the extent that he is in a position to justify it Mother of Gold Emerson Hough, 1924 The New Thought Companion, 1914
