Wild Cat Falling:

Wild Cat Falling Mudrooroo, 2018-09-01 From its initial appearance Wild Cat Falling was recognised as a profoundly important work Mudrooroo first published it under the name Colin Johnson And when it was released by Angus Robertson in 1965 Aboriginals were not considered Australian citizens did not have the right to vote and no novel written by an Aboriginal Australian had made it to print In telling the story of a symbolically nameless young Aboriginal man and of his re entry into society after a period of incarceration Mudrooroo offered insights into an Aboriginal s sense of isolation his literal and metaphorical imprisonment and his estrangement from his own people and culture The young man belongs neither to the white society that shuns him nor to the Aboriginal fringe dwellers who inhabit the white society s periphery While he can talk the talk of the subversive white bodgies they offer no more clue to his identity than do the university students he charms with his parodic existential angst This fiftieth anniversary edition of Mudrooroo s Wild Cat Falling including an updated introduction and autobiography by Mudrooroo highlights this writer s importance to Australian literature Wild Cat Falling has been in print continuously since its initial publication in 1965 It is frequently read as a school and university text and it has helped to establish Mudrooroo as a writer recognised widely throughout the world Mudrooroo's Wild Cat Falling Sue Sherman, 2014 Wild cat falling, 1987 Wild Cat Falling, Etc Colin Johnson, 1965 Wild Cat Falling [extracts]. Mudrooroo Narogin Nyoongah, 1976 Extracts from novel by WA Aborigine Wild Cat Falling, Mudrooroo, 2015 Wild Cat Falling Mudrooroo Narogin, 1984 Wildcat Screaming Mudrooroo, 2018-10-01 Well I can dream can t I Dream nightmares more like it All I have to do is dream dream dream scream I m now walking through this posh suburb walking more like slinking Wildcat on the prowl Naw though maybe checking out the streets for a bust Eyes dart this way that way all ways focus man on the main chance Take it and break it real good but is there any chances left Not with my luck Wildcat is out of prison but not for long In this sequel to Wild Cat Falling Mudrooroo takes us inside the life of the urban Aboriginal Set in the boom years of Perth bankers and entrepreneurs we see the same wheeling and dealing from inside Fremantle prison Wildcat has to survive and understand the new order set by the Chief Warder and an ex Indian Army officer Soon he too is part of their great creation The Panopticon Prison Reform Society A novel by one of Australia s most revolutionary stylists Mudrooroo Kevin Densley, 2001* Wild Cat Falling Mudrooroo, 1965 Mudrooroo Maureen Clark, 2007 Mudrooroo A Likely Story reads the fiction of one of Australia s most controversial and enigmatic literary figures against the backdrop of the likelihood that he assumed an Aboriginal identity to which he was not entitled As he is neither black nor white Colin Johnson a k a Mudrooroo writes on issues of identity and belonging from the position of an outsider The book argues that the experimental nature of Johnson s creative body of work coupled with the complexities of his in between status mean that both the man and his writing evade neat categorisation within mainstream literary criticism Also examined here is how the denial of his white mother impacts upon the gender politics of Johnson s fiction in a way that opens up exciting new possibilities for critical comment and textual analysis Back cover Brodie's Notes on Colin Johnson's Wild Cat Falling Jean Hart, Keith Burns, 1988 Mongrel Signatures Annalisa Oboe, 2003 A collection of essays that deal extensively with the work of Mudrooroo contributors treat questions of identity and representation Mudrooroo's work is read through the lenses of such perspectives as psychoanalysis postmodernism postcolonialism deconstruction and queer theory A wild cat standing [review of] Wild cat falling Ian Turner, 1965 Wildcat falling, 1989 Mudrooroo's Wild Cat Falling Rick McLean, 1994 Mudrooroo a biographical summary Structure and point of view Plot summary Characterisation Historical and social background Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature Across the Lines, 2022-05-16 This third volume of ASNEL Papers covers a wide range of theoretical and thematic approaches to the subject of intertextuality Intertextual relations between oral and written versions of literature text and performance as well as problems emerging from media transitions regionally instructed forms of intertextuality and the works of individual authors are equally dealt with Intertextuality as both a creative and a critical practice frequently exposes the essential arbitrariness of literary and cultural manifestations that have become canonized The transformation and transfer of meanings which accompanies any crossing between texts rests not least on the nature of the artistic corpus embodied in the general framework of historically and socially determined cultural traditions Traditions however result from selective forms of perception they are as much inventions as they are based on exclusion Intertextuality leads to a constant reinforcement of tradition while at the same time intertextual relations between the new literatures and other English language literatures are all too obvious Despite the inevitable impact of tradition the new literatures tend to employ a dynamic reading of culture which fosters social process and transition thus promoting transcultural rather than intercultural modes of communication Writing and reading across borders becomes a dialogue which reveals both differences and similarities More than a decolonizing form of deconstruction intertextuality is a strategy for communicating meaning across cultural boundaries Span ,1992 Australian Book Review ,2001
