Maternal & Child Health Nursing Adele Pillitteri,2010 Growing research shows that many children from immigrant and refugee families are not doing well in school due in part to linguistic and cultural disadvantages Teaching dual language learners requires cultural sensitivity an understanding of language acquisition and intentional teaching strategies Combining research and techniques this resource helps early childhood educators support dual language learners as they develop the skills necessary for school readiness and success Medical Journal of Australia ,1930 Mindfulness, Mind-body

Exercises, and Health Promotion Guodong Zhang, Yang Cao, Zi Yan,2025-02-14 High intensity sports and physical exercise have been linked to various health benefits However when it comes to increasing longevity these activities may not be an ideal option for the general population Mind body exercise which combines physical exercise with mindfulness may be more effective in promoting and restoring health especially for those with chronic symptoms or poor health conditions Many mind body exercises such as Taichi Qigong Chan Chuang and Yoga have their roots in Eastern cultures They have gained popularity around the world and became a new fashion in the post COVID 19 era These exercises typically help practitioners shift their focus from the outside world past or future to the present moment through gentle body movements Mind body exercises emphasize the body s innate ability to heal itself By disconnecting from the noisy outside world the body is given the opportunity to heal This aligns with the classic belief in Chinese medicine that the body itself is the best medicine reacted by providing emergency care on an unprecedented scale while the scientific community has focused on developing new treatments and a vaccine to prevent future waves of the pandemic Evidence is emerging to suggest that certain conditions such as obesity and hypertension predispose some individuals to a worse outcome if they become infected and that women may be less likely to die from COVID 19 than men It is also currently believed that pregnant women are at no greater risk than the general population There is an urgent need to determine whether these early observations are correct Furthermore we need to be sure that pregnancy outcomes are not affected by COVID 19 and that SARS CoV 2 is not transmitted to the fetus during pregnancy or labour nor to the infant through breast milk There are so many questions that need to be answered to optimise care avoid harm reduce anxiety amongst women and their families and inform health professionals and policymakers We also need to understand the unintended consequences of the global lockdown on women s health in general For example have rates of domestic violence risen to what extent has women s mental health been affected and have women successfully adapted or devised new coping mechanisms have women been denied access to gynaecological treatments during the lockdown including safe abortion and if so with what impact on their health and wellbeing has the female work force suffered disproportionately in economic terms have national and international recommendations and policies been sufficiently gender neutral have breastfeeding rates been adversely affected will COVID 19 make attainment of the UN SDGs more difficult etc In keeping with the Scope Mission of Frontiers in Global Women s Health this Research Topic aims to provide a multi disciplinary platform to answer important COVID 19 related questions that specifically impact upon women s health and wellbeing particular in resource poor settings The Topic Editors welcome a broad range of contributions including Original Research Reviews Commentaries Study Protocols and Systematic Reviews We would like to acknowledge Dr Nathalie MacDermott and Dr Rhiannon George Carey who have acted as coordinators and have contributed to the preparation of the proposal for this Research Topic Given the exceptional nature of the COVID 19 situation Frontiers is waiving all article publishing charges for COVID 19 related research in this Research Topic Please note that manuscripts must be submitted by the deadline of December 31st
