Therapeutic Relationship In Systemic Therapy:

The Therapeutic Relationship in Systemic Therapy Carmel Flaskas, Amaryll Perlesz, 2018-04-19 Anyone following the recent developments of systemic thinking will be aware that activity has not been restricted to Europe and America Systemic therapists and writers from both Australia and New Zealand are now making a major impact on the field particularly in the way they explore therapy as an exchange between real people with gender and with ethical values and embedded within specific cultural experiences These people are challenging the traditional way we see clients and the context of therapy Over the years systemic therapists have theorized extensively about the client family as a system and have more recently addressed the use of self in therapy but there has been very little attention paid to the therapeutic relationship between the two

The Therapeutic Relationship in Systemic Therapy Carmel Flaskas, 2018 Brings the issue of the therapeutic relationship in family systems therapy into focus by examining the relationships between the client family as a system and the use of self in therapy Provided by publisher

Long Term Systemic Therapy Arlene Vetere, Jim Sheehan, 2020-06-01 Systemic psychotherapy has long been conceptualised and practiced as brief psychotherapy in both the public sector and in independent practice but it is now increasingly becoming a longer term practice This ground breaking book examines the ways in which systemic theory can accommodate and formulate long term practice and locates the boundaries of the systemic theories that both help to explain and give direction to such work In doing so it asks important questions such as at what point might a practitioner need to incorporate and integrate other explanatory models into their systemic thinking What does this mean for systemic practice How does the relative longevity of the work impact the way practitioners build and maintain therapeutic relationships with the relational systems they assist And what implications does such longevity have on and for the supervisory needs of systemic psychotherapists at the heart of the work Given the absence of a rigorous evidence base for long term systemic therapy and practice this book explores how practitioners can hold themselves ethically accountable for what they do and think Written by some of the leading names in systemic thinking this book provides an important new resource for both students and experienced professionals in family therapy seeking to enhance their practice and research

The Space Between Carmel Flaskas, Barry Mason, Amaryll Perlesz, 2018-05-08 The papers in this book focus on many different aspects of the therapeutic relationship including the self of the therapist working cross culturally and with language difference impasse risk taking the place of research and the influence of theory Clinical examples illustrate successful as well as less successful outcomes in therapy and these clinical explorations make the book accessible to both systemic and non systemic practitioners alike Part of the Systemic Thinking and Practice Series Contributors Rhonda Brown John Burnham John Byng Hall Alan Carr Carmel Flaskas Jo Howard Alfred Hurst Ellie Kavner Sebastian Kraemer Inga Britt Krause Rabia Malik Maeve Malley Michael Maltby Barry Mason Sue McNab Amaryll Perlesz David Pocock Hitesh Raval Justin Schlicht and Lennox K Thomas

Enhancing Professionalism Through Reflectivity in Social and Health Care Walter Lorenz,Zuzana Havrdová,2023-09-13 This book discusses complex motivational conditions and strategies on macro meso and micro levels promoting reflectivity in interpersonal professional practice The increasing demands made on practitioners in social and health services as illustrated by the COVID 19 pandemic can lead to great uncertainty over how to find the right response to complex expressions of need and how to account for ethical professional decisions in view of prevailing strategies of risk reduction and managerial accounting Reflectivity has been recognised as being of central importance for guiding practitioners towards situationally differentiated and accountable practice However it is a complex process made up not only of different psychological components and their interplay with educational and organisational contexts but also of multilevel interactions and purely situational conditions that can have positive or negative effects The individual and team reflectivity can be learned and supported through various educational and managerial opportunities sensitively guided personal and professional experiences and specific patterns of interaction which are reviewed in the book Reflective supervision in the workplace plays a pivotal role in enabling individual and team reflective processes However there are also social and organisational factors that can hinder the development of individual and team reflectivity The particular value of this publication is that the authors focus on complex research findings from several consecutive studies and critically review and discuss the conditions for reflectivity from various perspectives and with the background of rich academic literature and research Their research derived empirical and analytical insights were submitted to managers and educators and effective and realistic strategies and methods to enhance different levels of reflectivity in students and practitioners were discussed and are summarised in this volume Among the topics covered The significance of reflectivity in professional social and health care in relation to changing socio political contexts Gender aspects of reflectivity in the social and healthcare field Operationalisation of reflectivity for research by personal team and organisational scales Cultural and communicational patterns of interaction enabling professional reflective processes Enhancing Professionalism Through Reflectivity in Social and Health Care is pertinent reading for professors of professional academic training programmes for social workers nurses supervisors trainers in non formal learning settings students and managers of social and health services with an interest in enhancing organisational cultures

Working with Refugee Families Lucia De Haene,Cécile Rousseau,2020-08-06 The field of refugee family research and intervention forms a growing field of scientific study focussing on the refugee family as the central niche of coping with and giving meaning to trauma cultural uprooting and exile This important new book develops an understanding of the role of refugee family relationships in post trauma healing and provides an in depth analysis of central clinical therapeutic themes in refugee family psychosocial interventions Expert contributions from across transcultural psychiatry psychology psychotherapy and social work have provided chapters on post trauma reconstruction in refugee family relationships trauma care for refugee families and intersectorial psychosocial interventions with refugee families This exploration of refugee family systems in both research and clinical practice aims to promote a systemic perspective in health and social services working with families in refugee mental health care Culture and Reflexivity in Systemic Psychotherapy Inga-Britt Krause,2018-03-21 The therapeutic relationship is increasingly becoming a central topic in systemic psychotherapy and cross cultural thinking Here experienced systemic psychotherapists offer their reflections and thoughts on the issues of race culture and ethnicity in the therapeutic relationship The aim is to develop this area of systemic practice to place culture squarely at the centre of all systemic psychotherapy practice as a model for all psychotherapy practice to encourage both trainees and experienced systemic psychotherapists to pay attention to race culture and ethnicity as central issues in their own and their clients identities and to inform researchers who use qualitative research techniques such as ethnography This book moves the issues of culture race and equity into the centre of psychotherapeutic practice including that which involves therapeutic encounters across culture racial and ethnic divides It develops an approach to cultural transference and demonstrates that thinking about culture race and ethnicity does not belong at the margin

In Therapy Together Peter Rober, 2017-05-24 Families come in all shapes and sizes and all have love at their roots however by the time a family requests help from a psychotherapist resentment fear and disappointment have often become the dominant forces ruling everyday life Moving away from the medically focused problem diagnosis treatment model of psychotherapy Peter Rober's thought provoking new text conceptualises family therapy as a dialogue between living breathing people it emphasises the mutuality and relational context that serves as the backdrop of a therapeutic encounter whereby family members will interact emotions will be displayed and suppressed and practitioners will need to navigate carefully endeavouring not just to listen but to understand the stories being told Astute and engaging throughout each chapter provides close analysis of a rich variety of case studies combined with an examination of key theories and concepts from different schools of thought in family therapy with a particular focus on dialogical thinking the book explores the ways in which these theoretical concepts can be applied in everyday practice situations Written by a leading expert in the field this insightful new addition to Palgrave s Basic Texts in Counselling and Psychotherapy series provides an accessible exploration of a complex area of practice It will prove invaluable reading for those studying family therapy specifically as well as students taking more general counselling and psychotherapy courses and practitioners looking for a fresh source of guidance

Theories and Paradigms of Counseling and Psychotherapy R. Rocco Cottone,1992

Feminism & Psychotherapy I Bruna Seu,M Colleen Heenan,1998-05-21

Feminism and Psychotherapy deconstructs the theory and practice of feminist therapy in contemporary society and challenges the view that one model of therapy or one model of feminism can be elevated above all others
