Wind Eye:

"In the Wind's Eye" George Gordon Byron Baron Byron, 1773-1824 George Gordon Byron was a superb letter writer almost all his letters whatever the subject or whoever the recipient are enlivened by his wit his irony his honesty and the sharpness of his observation of people They provide a vivid self portrait of the man who of all his contemporaries seems to express attitudes and feelings most in tune with the twentieth century In addition they offer a mirror of his own time This first collected edition of all Byron's known letters supersedes Prothero's incomplete edition at the turn of the century It includes a considerable number of hitherto unpublished letters and the complete text of many that were bowdlerized by former editors for a variety of reasons Prothero's edition included 1,198 letters This edition has more than 3,000 over 80 percent of them transcribed entirely from the original manuscripts The ninth volume in Leslie Marchand's highly acclaimed unexpurgated edition of Byron's letters finds the poet in Pisa with Teresa Guiccioli His unique journal Detached Thoughts is finished shortly after his arrival in November 1821 and he is drawn into Shelley's circle including Edward Williams Thomas Medwin John Taaffe and later Trelawny His letters to Mary Shelley the Hunts and Trelawny after the death of Shelley are especially moving Another tragedy the death of his daughter Allegra leaves him deeply affected and he refers to it time and time again Money problems continue to plague him as do suspicions surrounding his political activities Following a fracas with a half drunken dragoon and the imprisonment of two of his servants because of it Byron is forced to leave Pisa and install himself and Teresa in a villa near Leghorn His correspondence with his publisher reveals increasing displeasure with Murray's delays indecision and anxiety over Don Juan and Byron finally breaks off the relationship But his output of verse is in no way lessened and by the end of this volume in 1822 he has finished six more cantos for Don Juan as well as other poems

Living in Time Albert Gelpi, 1998-02-19 The Oxford poets of the 1930s W H Auden C Day Lewis Stephen Spender and Louis MacNeice represented the first concerted British challenge to the domination of twentieth century poetry by the innovations of American modernists such as Ezra Pound and William Carlos Williams Known for their radical politics and aesthetic conservatism the Auden Generation has come to loom large in our map of twentieth century literary history Yet Auden's voluble domination of the group in its brief period of association and Auden's sway with critics ever since has made it difficult to hear the others on their own terms and in their own distinct voices Here rendered in eloquent prose by one of our most distinguished critics of modern poetry is the first full length study of the poetry of C Day Lewis a book that introduces the reader to a profoundly revealing and beautifully wrought record of his poetry against the cultural and literary ferment of this century Albert Gelpi explores in three expansive sections the major periods of the poet's development beginning with the emergence of Day Lewis in the thirties as the most radical of the Oxford poets An artist who sought through poetry a way of living in time without traditional religious assurances Day Lewis went further than his friends in seeking to forge a revolutionary poetry out of his commitment to Marxism When Stalinism led to his resignation from the Communist Party Day Lewis in the forties went on to shape a rich fiercely perceptive poetry out of the convergence of the wartime crisis with the explosive events of his own inner life intensified by the erotics of a decade long affair Returning to his Irish roots and meditating on the persistent tension between agnosticism and faith in the work of his third and final period Day Lewis wrote some of the most moving poems in the language about mortality and dying the limits and possibilities of human striving Through the traumatic changes of his life C Day Lewis came increasingly to depend on the intricacies of poetry itself as a way of living in time His abiding belief in the psychological and moral functions of poetry impelled him in his critical writings and in his own poetic practice to delineate a modern poetics that presents an effective alternative to the elitist experimentation associated with Modernism This vital revisionist reading of Day Lewis demonstrates that much of his best work was written after the thirties and establishes him as one of the most significant and accomplished British poets of the modern period
