Heritage and Tourism in The Global Village Priscilla Boniface, Peter Fowler, 2002-11-01 A nation's heritage is one of the most potent forces for generating tourism. The Tower of London is the greatest visitor attraction in Britain. But it is pushed into insignificance by comparison with the visitors travelling to Disneyland Epcot and the other entertainment complexes in the USA and it will be dwarfed by Euro Disneyland east of Paris. So how should heritage attractions respond should they find their own specific audiences and resources. This book written by a leading heritage specialist is essential reading for all those concerned both with heritage and leisure management. International in scope it examines successful examples of heritage management for tourism and equally some failures It aims to lay some useful ground rules which should underpin all heritage developments designed to attract tourism on a major scale Opera ,2013 Map Link Catalog ,2008 Elsewhere Terri Windling,Mark Alan Arnold,1984 Cézanne's Objects Joel Meyerowitz,2017 C zanne painted his studio walls a dark grey He mixed the color and painted it himself Every object in the studio which was illuminated by a vast north window seemed to be absorbed into the grey of the background There were no telltale reflections around the edges of the objects So there was nothing that could separate them from the background itself And Meyerowitz suddenly saw how C zanne making his small patch like brush marks moved from the object to the background and back again to the objects without the familiar intervention of a renaissance like illusion of perspective After all C zanne s was the first voice of flatness the first statement of the modern idea that a painting was simply paint on a flat canvas nothing more And here was an environment that he had made to serve his idea in which the play of light on this particular tone of grey which was not like the darkness of Dutch interiors but was a more precisely keyed background hum that allowed an exchange between say the red of an apple and the equal value of the grey background It was a proposal of tonal nearness that welcomed the idea of flatness Meyerowitz tooke each of C zanne s objects in hand and look at them against the grey wall and the photographer managed to convince the Director of the Atelier to let him do this no one had touched these objects in ages and for some reason she agreed to let him do as he wished His impulse was to place each one in the exact same spot on his marble topped table and just make a dumb record of it Meyerowitz had the impulse to see them in rows almost as if they were back on his shelf above the table so he decided to make a grid of 5 rows with 5 objects on each row with C zanne s hat as the centerpiece and see what they felt like when seen together at approximately life size He was immediatly drawn to them at this scale Travel & Leisure ,2000-05
