

STRING QUARTET #14, op. 131

From Serenade with Walden (revised)

L. van Beethoven (1770-1827)

Op. 131, which is the original, with revisions

The first system of the musical score consists of four staves. The top staff is the first violin part, followed by the second violin, the viola, and the cello/bass. The music is written in a common time signature and features a variety of rhythmic patterns, including eighth and sixteenth notes, as well as rests. The notation includes dynamic markings such as f and mf, and phrasing slurs are used to indicate melodic lines across measures.

The second system continues the musical score with four staves. It maintains the same instrumental arrangement and notation style as the first system. The music shows a continuation of the melodic and harmonic development, with various rhythmic figures and dynamic changes. The phrasing slurs and dynamic markings are consistent with the previous system.

The third system of the musical score also consists of four staves. The notation continues the piece, showing further development of the musical themes. The arrangement of instruments and the use of musical symbols like slurs and dynamics remain consistent with the previous systems. The system concludes with a final measure that ends with a double bar line.
