Terry C. Jones

The Existential Experience:

The Existential Experience Ralph Harper, 1972 An American existentialist's summary of the existential tradition from St Augustine to Pascal to Camus It is a very personal statement an insider's view of a philosophy of man that has come of age in the twentieth century and that speaks most directly to the philosophical religious and psychological dilemmas of our day

The Rainbow of Experiences, Critical Trust, and God Kai-man Kwan, 2011-08-11 Defends a new type of epistemology the Critical Trust Approach and then applies it to the experience of God in the contemporary multicultural context

Tourism: The experience of tourism Stephen Williams, 2004 This collection of key articles from the most influential journals and books in the field examines what social scientists mean by the term tourism and what it means to be a tourist Carefully selected and introduced by the editor this material charts the sociological changes that have occurred in tourism and the change from the upper class grand tours of the late nineteenth century to the mass tourism of the present day The collection also assesses the economic impacts of tourism on local economies environmental considerations and whether the growth of tourism is sustainable in a post September 11th world Tourism Critical Concepts in the Social Sciences is an accessible and comprehensive resource designed for academics and scholars researching in tourism globalization and human geography

The Fellowship of Being John B. O'Malley, 2012-12-06 This book is the fruit of a critical inquiry into the nature and scope of Marcel's philosophic achievement As such it is concerned less with affixing the appropriate label personalist or existentialist to Marcel's thought and with it making it stick than with discovering the precise impulse and tenor of his philosophy In the process of that more general inquiry the writer found being forced upon him a central concept as integrating focus of Marcel's philosophic investigations This concept was that of the person Gradually it emerged as a concept not only of prime importance for understanding the underlying harmony that pervades Marcel's professedly unsystematic researches but equally as one of profound significance for any philosophy that pretends adequately to account for human experience Furthermore it seemed that the concept derived much of that significance from its acceptance precisely in the context of Marcel's thought. This feature of Marcel's philosophical writings alone is warrant enough for overcoming any initial embarrassment aroused in Anglo-Saxon breasts by his style. For to speak candidly that style is of a generation and a climate whose tastes little accord with palates trained to a greater astringency. Nor will Marcel's evident and unashamed concern with life and its problems necessarily evoke a warm response in minds accustomed to operate in an atmosphere of stricter and more academic reserve.

Religion, Reality, and a Good Life Eberhard Herrmann, 2004. Do we have access to reality as it is conceptualized by us? Against metaphysical realism and postmodern relativism, Eberhard Herrmann develops a pragmatic realism. It stresses reality as conceptualized reality while at the same time not ruling out objectivity. Contents include: The Nature of the Enquiry, The Philosophical Problem Formulated, Religion and Philosophy, Philosophy Reasons for and Against Metaphysical Realism, Critique of Semantic Realism, Pragmatic Realism, Realism from an Internal Perspective, Religious Metaphysical Realism, Religious Metaphysical Anti-Realism, Religious Statements as Purported Assertions, Christian Theism, The Character of Religious Utterances, Pragmatic Realism, The Function of Religion, Two Material Definitions of Truth, Perspectives on Views of Life, The Role of the Emotions in Our Conception of Reality, Emotions and the Conceptualization of Values.

The Varieties of Religious Experience William James, 1902

Theology and the Quest for Truth Mathijs Lamberigts, Lieven Boeve, Terrence Merrigan, 2006. In 2001 three research groups from the field of systematic theology and church history at the Faculty of Theology, KU Leuven, decided to join forces in an interdisciplinary project entitled "Orthodoxy: Process and Product." The main aim of this project consists of a church historical and systematic theological study of the determination of truth in church and theology. Senior and junior scholars from the three groups agreed to take this theme as the starting point and leading question from which the many research projects they are engaged in could be brought into relationship and as far as possible integrated. Although the question for theological truth already structured the research being conducted in the three groups to a significant degree, joining forces promised the realisation of a surplus value and this both through the gathering of a considerable critical mass in total (more than thirty junior and senior researchers) and the interdisciplinary design of the project. In this volume a first collection of contributions to this project from a diversity of angles and research subjects is presented. In these contributions scholars from the participating research groups investigate the implications of the overall research question for their particular line of research and research methodologies and suggest how from this specific research the overall question may be refined and elements of answering it can be provided.
