Warrant And Proper Function:

Warrant and Proper Function Alvin Plantinga, 2010 In this companion volume to Warrant: The Current Debate Alvin Plantinga develops an original approach to the question of epistemic warrant that is what turns true belief into knowledge. He argues that what is crucial to warrant is the proper functioning of one's cognitive faculties in the right kind of cognitive environment. Although this book is in some sense a sequel to its companion volume, the arguments do not presuppose those of the first book and it stands alone as a stimulating contribution to epistemology.

The Evolutionary Argument against Naturalism Jim Slagle, 2021-06-17 Contemporary discussions in metaphysics, epistemology, and philosophy of mind are dominated by the presupposition of naturalism. Arguing against this established convention, Jim Slagle offers a thorough defence of Alvin Plantinga's Evolutionary Argument against Naturalism (E.A.N.) and in doing so reveals how it shows that evolution and naturalism are incompatible. Charting the development of Plantinga's argument, Slagle asserts that the probability of our cognitive faculties reliably producing true beliefs is low if ontological naturalism is true and therefore all other beliefs produced by these faculties, including naturalism itself, are self-defeating. He critiques other well-known epistemological approaches, including those of Descartes and Quine, and deftly counters the many objections against the E.A.N. to conclude that metaphysical naturalism should be rejected on the grounds of self-defeat. By situating Plantinga's argument within a wider context and showing that science and evolution cannot entail naturalism, Slagle renders this most common metaphysical view irrational. As such, the book advocates an important reconsideration of contemporary thought at the intersection of philosophy, science, and religion.

Pentecostalism, Postmodernism, and Reformed Epistemology Yoon Shin, 2021-12-27 In Pentecostalism, Postmodernism, and Reformed Epistemology, Yoon Shin critically builds on James K. A. Smith's postmodern Pentecostal epistemology with the aid of Reformed epistemology. It takes the reader through an interdisciplinary journey that exposit and illumines the relationship among Pentecostal spirituality, continental and analytic philosophy, postliberalism, moral psychology, and philosophy of emotion. This work clarifies misunderstandings of Smith in Smith and between continental and analytic epistemology constructively and coherently, synthesizing the sources through interdisciplinary analysis and thereby demonstrating the value of mashup philosophy. The resulting epistemology strengthens the mostly descriptive epistemology of Smith with the warrant criteria of Alvin Plantinga.

A Modest Certainty Frank D. Schubert, 2012-10-04 The central problem of philosophy is the problem of certainty: What does it mean to be sure? Are there ideas beyond the possibility of error or refutation? What does it mean for a notion to be incorrigible? In this book, Frank D. Schubert squarely addresses the question of whether there is a single standard of certainty that can be applied to such disparate areas as logic, mathematics, politics, religion, familial/tribal commitments, and science. Schubert proposes a common standard for assessing certainty: the certainty of knowing one's own personal proper name as a standard that can establish common ground within each widely disparate area. The result is a new philosophy in a grand manner and a powerful ethical proposal for our time Transcendental Arguments and Justified Christian Belief Ronney Mourad, 2005 The famous clash between Edmund Burke and Tom Paine over the Enlightenment's evil or liberating potential in the French Revolution finds present day parallels in the battle between those who see the Enlightenment at the origins of modernity's many ills such as imperialism racism misogyny and totalitarianism and those who see it as having forged an age of democracy human rights and freedom The essays collected by Charles Walton in Into Print paint a more complicated picture By focusing on print culture the production circulation and reception of Enlightenment thought they show how the Enlightenment was shaped through practice and reshaped over time These essays expand upon an approach to the study of the Enlightenment pioneered four decades ago the social history of ideas The contributors to Into Print examine how writers printers booksellers regulators police readers rumormongers policy makers diplomats and sovereigns all struggled over that broad range of ideas and values that we now associate with the Enlightenment They reveal the financial and fiscal stakes of the Enlightenment print industry and in turn how Enlightenment ideas shaped that industry during an age of expanding readership They probe the limits of Enlightenment universalism showing how demands for religious tolerance clashed with the demands of science and nationalism They examine the transnational flow of Enlightenment ideas and opinions exploring its domestic and diplomatic implications Finally they show how the culture of the Enlightenment figured in the outbreak and course of the French Revolution Aside from the editor the contributors are David A Bell Roger Chartier Tabetha Ewing Jeffrey Freedman Carla Hesse Thomas M Lockett Sarah Maza Renato Pasta Thierry Rigogne Leonard N Rosenband Shanti Singham and Will Slauter

Towards a Realist Conception of Theology Bertrand Rickenbacher, 2026-01-19 An account Based on the Works of Bavinck and Plantinga Is it possible for human beings to know something about God Is it possible to formulate theological propositions that are true Or is theology limited to the formulation of human beliefs The aim of this book is to augment the contemporary case for a realist conception of theology It affirms the possibility of knowing something about God and argues on that basis that it is possible to formulate propositions that are true It does so by bringing together the works of the early twentieth century Dutch theologian Herman Bavinck 1854-1921 and those of the contemporary American philosopher Alvin Plantinga b 1932 Among other results both philosophical and theological this book offers a better understanding of the role of theology as a truth seeking discipline in church academy and society Bibliografisch repertorium van de wijsbegeerte, 2000

The Promise of Hermeneutics Roger Lundin, Anthony C. Thiselton, Clarence Walhout, 1999 This work presents an interdisciplinary study of the nature and scope of interpretation The three authors bring the resources of the Bible Christian tradition and intellectual history to bear upon contemporary hermeneutical disputes Representing a complete revision of The Responsibility of Hermeneutics 1985 this substantially expanded volume has been brought up to date with recent work in hermeneutics and sets forth an important new perspective that shifts the interpretive focus from the past to the promise of the future Making use of the best insights from current theories about language interpretation and the nature of the self The Promise of Hermeneutics demonstrates how an encounter with contemporary interpretive theory can deepen the church's own hermeneutical practices The authors also show how the Christian faith can help move us beyond the many impasses created by postmodern thought From publisher's description Reports of Cases Determined by the Supreme Court of the State of Missouri Missouri. Supreme Court, 1889 Justified Faith without Reasons? Valentin Teodorescu, 2023-11-06 This study intends to show that the answer to the question whether faith can be justified without proofs can be resolved by importing ideas from Soren Kierkegaard's and Alvin Plantinga's affirmative take on the matter There is a deep similarity between the way they understand belief in God and belief in Christianity The authors share the modern idea that there is an objective truth combining it with the postmodern stance that no method exists which would guarantee access to it One can see at both authors not only a deep commonality of ideas but also a remarkable way in which their understandings augment each other Whereas Kierkegaard comes to the provocative conclusion that if a person wants to live authentically she will meet Christ on her life's journey without needing any proof Plantinga's inquiry contributes to the rational plausibility of this Justified Faith without Reasons project Modality, Probability, and Rationality James F. Sennett, 1992 This work examines several major projects in Plantinga's career particularly as they relate to his defense of the rationality of theistic belief Chapters are dedicated to his modal ontological argument his free will defense his attacks on inductive arguments from evil and his Reformed epistemology program in which he argues that theistic belief can be rational without reliance on propositional evidence Along the way the book deals with important issues in possible worlds semantics probability theory and the theory of knowledge Account is taken of Plantinga's most recent work including his forthcoming books in epistemology Though some portions of the work deal with technical concepts of modal and probabilistic logics all professional philosophers and many professional theologians should find the book accessible understandable and informative

Warrant in Contemporary Epistemology Alvin Plantinga, 1996 Motivated by Plantinga's work fourteen prominent philosophers have written new essays investigating Plantingian warrant and its contribution to contemporary epistemology The resulting collection representing a broad array of views not only gives readers a critical perspective on Plantinga's landmark work but also provides in one volume a clear statement of the variety of approaches to the nature of warrant within contemporary epistemology and to the connections between epistemology and metaphysics The Law of Prohibition William Joseph McFadden, 1925 Faith and Understanding Paul Helm, 1997 Reports of Cases Decided in the Supreme Court of the State of South Dakota South Dakota. Supreme Court, 1895 The Review of Metaphysics, 1998 Reports of Cases Argued and Determined in the Supreme Court of the State of Missouri Missouri. Supreme Court, 1889 The Northwestern Reporter, 1920 International Philosophical Quarterly, 1961 The Law Reports, 1895
