Depictions of Home in African American Literature Trudier Harris, 2021-12-06 In Depictions of Home in African American Literature Trudier Harris analyzes fictional homespaces in African American literature from those set in the time of slavery to modern urban configurations of the homespace She argues that African American writers often inadvertently create and follow a tradition of portraying dysfunctional and physically or emotionally violent homespaces Harris explores the roles race and religion play in the creation of homespaces and how geography space and character all influence these spaces Although many characters in African American literature crave safe happy homespaces and frequently carry such images with them through their mental or physical migrations few characters experience the formation of healthy homespaces by the end of their journeys Harris studies the historical cultural and literary portrayals of the home in works from well known authors such as Richard Wright James Baldwin Toni Morrison and August Wilson as well as lesser studied authors such as Daniel Black A J Verdelle Margaret Walker and Dorothy West From Mammies to Militants Trudier Harris, 2023-04-18 Focusing on the issue of stereotypes this new edition of Trudier Harris's classic 1982 study From Mammies to Militants examines the position of the domestic in Black American literature with a new afterword bringing her analysis into the present Greek Folk Poesy: Folk prose. Lost and Found in Translation Martha J. Cutter, 2006-05-18 Starting with Salman Rushdie's assertion that even though something is always lost in translation something can always be gained Martha Cutter examines the trope of translation in twenty English language novels and autobiographies by contemporary ethnic American writers She argues that these works advocate a politics of language diversity a literary and social agenda that validates the multiplicity of ethnic cultures and tongues in the United States Cutter studies works by Asian American Native American African American and Mexican American authors She argues that translation between cultures languages and dialects creates a new language that in its diversity constitutes the true heritage of the United States Through the metaphor of translation Cutter demonstrates writers such as Maxine Hong Kingston Sherman Alexie Toni Morrison and Richard Rodriguez establish a place within American society for the many languages spoken by multiethnic and multicultural individuals Cutter concludes with an analysis of contemporary debates over language policy such as English only legislation the recognition of Ebonics and the growing acceptance of bilingualism The focus on translation by so many multiethnic writers she contends offers hope in our postmodern culture for a new condition in which creatively fused languages renovate the communications of the dominant society and create new kinds of identity for multicultural individuals The Boy's friend, a monthly journal, 1866 [Greek Folk Poesy: Folk prose.
