The Story of Viewers For Quality Television Dorothy Collins Swanson, 2000-10 Viewers for Quality Television VQT emerged from the successful grassroots campaign of founder Dorothy Swanson to save the series Cagney Lacey Eight months after the drama returned to the air with the help of the show's producer Barney Rosenzweig Swanson's group gained significant media attention and popular support In 1984 she founded VQT and galvanized over 1500 advocates for innovative and enriching television programming For the past 12 years VQT has been the recognized and credible forum for discerning viewers Prior to the formation of this group there was no system in place where viewers could voice their opinions collectively to those responsible for the fate of programs The organization whose endorsements continue to be an important part of many programs bids for survival has succeeded in convincing network executives to reconsider shows such as Designing Women Homefront China Beach I'll Fly Away and most recently The Practice which were scheduled to be canceled Documenting the efforts of one grassroots organization that made a difference Swanson's story extends beyond the realm of television to demonstrate the rewards of making the voice of public opinion heard

Cataloging Policy and Support Office, 2013 Television Horace Newcomb, 1994 First published in 1976 Television The Critical View set the foundation for the serious study of television becoming the gold standard of anthologies in the field With this seventh edition editor Horace Newcomb has moved the book from one merely intended to legitimize the critical inquiry of television to a text that reflects how complex critical approaches to television have become today Comprised of virtually all new selections that deal with both classic and contemporary programming the seventh edition adds new material on television history the reception context of television and international programming such as Chinese soap operas and Brazilian telenovelas Television The Critical View remains a well established and critically acclaimed text essential for courses in critical studies communication studies cultural studies media history television criticism television history and broadcasting Intermedia, 1986 Television and Its Audience Patrick Barwise, Andrew Ehrenberg, 1988-11-24 This book by two leading experts takes a fresh look at the nature of television starting from an audience perspective It draws on over twenty years of research about the audience in the United States and Britain and about the many ways in which television is funded and organized around the world The overall picture which emerges is of a medium which is watched for several hours a day but usually at only a low level of involvement an audience which views mainly for relaxation but which actively chooses favourite programmes a flowering of new channels but with no fundamental change in what or how people watch programmes costing millions to produce but only a few pennies to view a wide range of programme types apparently similar to the range of print media but with nothing like the same degree of audience segmentation a global communication medium of dazzling scale speed and impact but which is slow at conveying complex information and perhaps less powerful than generally assumed The book is packed with information and insights yet is highly readable It is unique in relating so many of the issues raised by television to how we watch it There is also a highly regarded appendix on advertising as well as technical notes a glossary and references for further reading Television Frederik A.
