Terminal Visions:

Terminal Visions W. Warren Wagar,1982 Terminal Visions Richard Paul Russo,2000 A collection of fourteen short stories includes science fiction themes from gritty alien encounters to the ultimate road story Terminal Visions ENG2Db,2018-11-25 The idea for this book was a result of the creativity of 15 Grade 10 English students Each student started by presenting a basic plot summary for a story Next the class voted on which had the most potential Once the class had agreed upon an idea one brave student volunteered to write the first chapter After each chapter was written the class came together to workshop edit then brainstorm ideas for the following chapter Over the course of the school year six chapters were written this way In April the students were assigned their culminating task which was to write the 7th chapter a final chapter for the book Apocalyptic Fever Richard G. Kyle,2012-08-01 How will the world end Doomsday ideas in Western history have been both persistent and adaptable peaking at various times including in modern America Public opinion polls indicate that a substantial number of Americans look for the return of Christ or some catastrophic event The views expressed in these polls have been reinforced by the market process Whether through purchasing paperbacks or watching television programs millions of Americans have expressed an interest in end time events Americans have a tremendous appetite for prophecy more than nearly any other people in the modern world Why do Americans love doomsday In Apocalyptic Fever Richard Kyle attempts to answer this question showing how dispensational premillennialism has been the driving force behind doomsday ideas Yet while several chapters are devoted to this topic this book covers much more It surveys end time views in modern America from a wide range of perspectives dispensationalism Catholicism science fringe religions the occult fiction the year 2000 Islam politics the Mayan calendar and more Memoirs of the Future W. Warren Wagar,2001 Explores the life and work of W Warren Wagar Terminal Visions Betty Tung,University of Western Australia. School of Architecture, Landscape and Visual Arts,2008 American Cities in Post-Apocalyptic Science Fiction Robert Yeates,2021-11-15 Visions of the American city in post apocalyptic ruin permeate literary and popular fiction across print visual audio and digital media American Cities in Post Apocalyptic Science Fiction explores the prevalence of these representations in American culture drawing from a wide range of primary and critical works from the early twentieth century to today Beginning with science fiction in literary magazines before taking in radio dramas film video games and expansive transmedia franchises Robert Yeates argues that post apocalyptic representations of the American city are uniquely suited for explorations of contemporary urban issues Examining how the post apocalyptic American city has been repeatedly adapted and repurposed to new and developing media over the last century this book reveals that the content and form of such texts work together to create vivid and immersive fictional spaces in ways that would otherwise not be possible Chapters present media specific analyses of these texts situating them within their historical contexts and the broader history of representations of urban ruins in American fiction Original in its scope and cross media approach American Cities in Post Apocalyptic Science Fiction both illuminates little studied texts and provides provocative new readings of familiar works such as Blade Runner and The Walking Dead placing them within the larger historical context of imaginings of the American city in ruins

The Protean Self Robert Jay Lifton, 1999-11 We are becoming fluid and many sided Without quite realizing it we have been evolving a sense of self appropriate to the restlessness and flux of our time This mode of being differs radically from that of the past and enables us to engage in continuous exploration and personal experiment I have named it the protean self after Proteus the Greek sea god of many forms from The Protean Self Foundation, 1983 The Literary Imagination from Erasmus Darwin to H.G. Wells Michael R. Page, 2016-03-09 At the close of the eighteenth century Erasmus Darwin declared that he would enlist the imagination under the banner of science beginning Michael Page argues a literary narrative on questions of evolution ecology and technological progress that would extend from the Romantic through the Victorian periods Examining the interchange between emerging scientific ideas specifically evolution and ecology new technologies and literature in nineteenth century Britain Page shows how British writers from Darwin to H G Wells confronted the burgeoning expansion of scientific knowledge that was radically redefining human understanding and experience of the natural world of human species and of the self The wide range of authors covered in Page s ambitious study permits him to explore an impressive array of topics that include the role of the Romantic era in the molding of scientific and cultural perspectives the engagement of William Wordsworth and Percy Shelley with questions raised by contemporary science Mary Shelley s conflicted views on the unfolding prospects of modernity and how Victorian writers like Charles Kingsley Samuel Butler and W H Hudson responded to the implications of evolutionary theory Page concludes with the scientific romances of H G Wells to demonstrate how evolutionary fantasies reached the pinnacle of synthesis between evolutionary science and the imagination at the close of the century
