Labour Productivity Differentials within International Companies C. F. Pratten, 1976-08-05      The State and Economic Development E. V. K. Fitzgerald, 1976      Peru Post-1968 Carol Wise, 1990      Reinventing the State Carol Wise, 2009-12-14

The political economic history of Latin America in the post World War II era has largely been one of underachievement and opportunities lost. This all changed with the wave of market reforms that were implemented in the 1990s. However, the precise role of these reforms as an agent of change is still hotly debated. This in-depth analysis of the Peruvian case argues for an explanation that treats institutional innovation and state reconstruction as necessary conditions for the apparent success of the market in Latin America. Exploring how state intervention has been both the cause of Latin America's economic downfall in the 1980s and the solution to its recovery, Reinventing the State analyzes three main phases of state intervention: the developmentalism that lasted until 1982, the state in retreat of the 1980s, and the streamlined state of the 1990s. Through a comprehensive examination of the Peruvian experience, the book explains the country's impressive turnaround from the standpoint of institutional modernization and internal state reform. Written for a broad academic audience, the public policy community, and the private sector, this book is also meant as a quick primer for any journalist, consultant, or private sector analyst in need of an overview of the region's market reform effort and how it has played out in Peru. Carol Wise is Associate Professor, School of International Relations, University of Southern California.

Economic Development of Peru Robert Andrew Gorman, 1976. Abstract      A Select Bibliography On Economic Development John P. Powelson, 2019-05-20. This bibliography of more than 2,000 titles contains both books and journal articles, primarily those published since 1970. Most of the entries are annotated. The material is classified according to forty-eight categories, and there is also a list of relevant titles for each major country in Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

An Annotated Bibliography of Rural Development, Urbanization, and Levels of Living in Peru Eric Graber, 1979      Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1983      Searching for a Better Society John Sheahan, 2010-11-01.

As in most of the rest of Latin America, Peruvian economic strategy has gone in something of a circle from long-established orientation toward an open economy with minimal state intervention to a period of state-led development, then back again to what looks like the starting point. In the 1960s, the Peruvian people had their first real chance to make a democratic choice between continuation of the country's open economy orientation or change; they chose change. Using this as his starting point, Sheahan explains how their choice was not provoked by any economic crisis but by other major influences. The majority of Peruvians, he shows, were seeking objectives more fundamental than economic growth. They were with conflicting visions but with many good reasons searching for a better society. While positive accomplishments have been important enough, what went wrong led Peru back to a more market-determined economic system in 1990. Sheahan addresses the consequences of this return to the earlier economic strategy: what might be done to shape the process of development in Peru in Latin America more generally toward less unfair societies Searching for a Better Society is different from the great majority of economic studies of developing countries in its emphasis on the basic role of social dissatisfaction with the country's traditional liberal economic system on the complexity of social goals involved in evaluation of the choice consequences of economic policies The Role of Private United States Investment in the Economic Development of Peru John G.
