The First Farmers Peter S. Bellwood,2005 The First Farmers of Europe Stephen Shennan,2018-05-03 Knowledge of the origin and spread of farming has been revolutionised in recent years by the application of new scientific techniques especially the analysis of ancient DNA from human genomes In this book Stephen Shennan presents the latest research on the spread of farming by archaeologists geneticists and other archaeological scientists He shows that it resulted from a population expansion from present day Turkey Using ideas from the disciplines of human behavioural ecology and cultural evolution he explains how this process took place The expansion was not the result of population pressure but of the opportunities for increased fertility by colonising new regions that farming offered The knowledge and resources for the farming niche were passed on from parents to their children However Shennan demonstrates that the demographic patterns associated with the spread of farming resulted in population booms and busts not continuous expansion

Last Hunters, First Farmers Theron Douglas Price,Anne Birgitte Gebauer,1995 During

virtually the entire four million year history of our habitation on this planet humans have been hunters and gatherers dependent for nourishment on the availability of wild plants and animals Beginning about 10 000 years ago however the most remarkable phenomenon in the course of human prehistory was set in motion At locations around the world over a period of about 5 000 years hunters became farmers Far more than the domestication of plant and animal species was involved in this revolution which was accompanied by massive changes in the structure and organization of the societies that adopted agriculture and by a totally new relationship with the environment Whereas hunter gatherers live off the land in an extensive fashion exploiting a diversity of resources over a broad area farmers utilize the landscape intensively The implications of these changes in human activity and social organization reverberate down to the present day The case studies presented here ranging from the Far East to the American Southwest provide a global perspective on contemporary research into the origins of agriculture Downplaying more traditional explanations of the turn to agriculture such as the influence of marginal environments and population pressures the contributors to this volume emphasize instead the importance of the resource rich areas in which agriculture began the complex social organizations already in place the role of sedentism and in some locales the advent of economic intensification and competition This volume resulted from an advanced seminar held at the School of American Research in Santa Fe New Mexico Contributors include Ofer Bar Yosef Anne BirgitteGebauer Charles Higham Lawrence H Keeley Richard H Meadow Deborah M Pearsall T Douglas Price Bruce D Smith Patty Jo Watson and W H Wills
