Space Nymph Dustin Lasser, 1978 The Double Screen Wu Hung, 1996-11-22 This book contemplates a large problem what is a traditional Chinese painting Wu Hung answers this question through a comprehensive analysis of the screen a major format and a popular pictorial motif in traditional China With a broad array of examples ranging from the early centuries C E to the 1800s he explores the screen s position in art as an important site for artistic imagination as an illusionary representation on a flat surface and as an architectural device defining cultural conventions A screen occupies a space and divides it supplies an ideal surface for painting and has been a favourite pictorial image in Chinese art since antiquity With its diverse roles the screen has provided Chinese painters with endless opportunities to reinvent their art The author argues that any understanding of Chinese painting must include discussion of its material forms as well as its intimate connection with cultural context and convention Thus The Double Screen offers a powerful non western perspective on diverse artistic and cultural genres from portraiture and pictorial narrative to voyeurism and masquerade and will be invaluable to anyone interested in the history of art and Asian studies as well as to students and specialists in the field

prescient technique to create engaging stirring painting that in some ways seems to relate to the literary work of the poet Torquato Tasso and even take up the imaginary writings of Ludovico Ariosto published in Venice in the 1530s Such a painting style had never previously been imagined and was so revolutionary that it was to influence many artists of subsequent centuries through to the modern age Late Titian became the yardstick not only for younger contemporary painters like Tintoretto Veronese and Bassano but also great artists of subsequent centuries like Rubens Rembrandt Velazquez Gericault and Delacroix and on to the Expressionists Journal of Morphology ,1921 Memoirs of the Department of Agriculture in India India.
