Spatial Organization Of Multinational Corporations:

The Spatial Organization of Multinational Firms Fabrice Defever,2010      The Spatial Organisation of Multinational Corporations (RLE International Business) Ian Clarke,2013-01-04 This book based on extensive original research examines the spatial structure and geographical implications of modern multinational corporations It looks at the geography of multinational corporations relates this geography to management and decision making structures and discusses how these items are changing Exploring the themes of centre and periphery in the corporation it surveys the impact of corporate change and restructuring on regional economies      The Transforming Spatial Organization in the Information Age Dadao Lu,2024-11-04 This book provides a critical account a state of the art review as well as novel research methods of information technology development and the corresponding changes of socio economic spatial organization in China With the rapid development of the Internet over the past three decades the development of information technology and its impact on social economy have become an important frontier issue of human and economic geography Actually the influence of information technology is complex and dynamic involving almost all aspects of socio economic activities and our daily life It is also influencing the methods and disciplines that we use to understand it In general industrial development and regional management and innovation are the core contents of socio economic spatial organization Therefore changes in industrial clusters transportation logistics regional development and innovation urban planning and management and rural development under the background of the information age were analysed to understand the relationship among information revolution socio economic spatial organization and human and economic geography Primarily intended for scholars and graduate students across a range of disciplines such as geography urban rural planning information science urban science economics and sociology and people engaged in regional planning urban management and information management this book proves to be an innovative and up to date resource      The Spatial Organisation of Multinational Corporations Ian M. Clarke,2013      Transaction Costs & Trade Between Multinational Corporations (RLE International Business) C Hallwood,2013-01-04 Until this book was published little had appeared on the matter of the organization of production in oil gathering This book Describes the global offshore oil supply industry and its features on one of the world s major offshore oil services bases Draws on the theory of the multinational corporation to explain why buyers and sellers should have internationalized themselves into a symbiotic relationship Discusses the preference of the oil companies for vertical disintegration Explains the transaction cost paradigm Integrates the largely American literature on the transaction cost paradigm with the literature on the multinational corporation which is largely British      The Spatial Organization of Multinational Firms - L'Organisation Spatiale De L'Entreprise Plurinationale" Fabrice Defever,2012 Using six years of firm level data covering 224 regions of the enlarged European Union we evaluate the importance to a firm of locating its activities production headquarters R D logistics and sales close together We find that after controlling for regional characteristics being closely located to a previous investment positively affects firm location choice. However, the impact of distance is dependent on the type of investment: production or service. The impact dies out faster for service activities. Finally, we show that a surprisingly positive effect comes from locating a new production plant close to an existing production investment but in another country. A l aide de donn es au niveau des firmes sur une p riode de six ans pour 224 r gions de l Union europ enne agrandie on examine l importance pour une firme de localiser ses activit s production si ge social R D logistique et ventes tout pr s les unes des autres. On d couvre que tenant compte des caract ristiques r gionales tre proche de la localisation d un investissement ant rieur a un effet positif sur le choix de localisation. Cependant l impact de la distance d pend du type d investissement: production ou service. L impact s att nue plus vite pour les activit s de service. Finalement on montre qu il y a un impact remarquablement positif qui vient de la localisation d un nouvel tablissement de production pr s d un investissement de production existant mais dans un autre pays.

Innovation and Institutional Embeddedness of Multinational Companies Martin Heidenreich, 2012

This wonderful volume brings together contributions mainly from the innovation literature whose findings are in a sense quite familiar but which in this collection are juxtaposed in such a way as to highlight their common institutional underpinnings. This is very much due to the efforts of the editor whose insightful introduction and editorial vision brings out several interesting and emerging themes from this collection of papers. I think this volume breaks new ground in highlighting the embeddedness of MNE subsidiaries in multiple contexts and it will be of considerable interest to scholars engaged with institutional analysis. However, I also believe that researchers interested in regional embeddedness, the geography of innovation and knowledge management will find new angles to their work in this collected volume.

Sarianna M Lundan, University of Bremen, Germany

Multinational companies are crucial actors in a global knowledge based economy combining the advantages of global and locally coordinated production and innovation strategies with specific regional and national factors. This book questions how MNCs can best exploit institutionally embedded knowledge, explores the utilization of external institutionally embedded knowledge in corporate innovation processes and addresses the challenges of embeddedness. The expert contributors draw on managerial, economic, geographic and sociological perspectives to explore the essential roles of regional and national knowledge infrastructures and the cultural and political environment of MNCs. They build upon, update and extend the discussion on the regional and national embeddedness of MNCs with new country case studies and comparative analyses focussing on the relationship between innovation in companies and regional studies. Significantly, the book also establishes a link between two important debates that have hitherto been largely disconnected: Regional studies and international business studies separately address issues that fall within the scope of the book but do not provide an integrated analysis of the embeddedness of MNCs. This pathbreaking book goes some way to fill this gap in the literature and as such will prove invaluable to academics.
