Gigolo Edna Ferber, 1922 The Art of Marriage Maintenance Sylvia R. Karasu, T. Byram Karasu, 2005-06-09 Given the fact that 50% of marriages end in divorce you would think marriage wouldn't be so popular but getting married is one of the most popular of all life events In fact many new couples are willing to face considerable debt for the wedding ceremony alone It seems that many people spend more time on planning the wedding than on thinking about marriage and what it entails The Art of Marriage Maintenance is about marital life after the wedding It is about psychological and biological difficulties between men and women that make marriage so challenging It is about why passion is in danger of fading within marriage how hormones exacerbate behavior and how the brain confounds us It is about how pregnancy and having young children and adolescents often catapult a marriage to its breaking point and how the stresses of mid life contribute to marital discord It is in effect how to ensure a happy enduring marriage It is the art of marriage maintenance Gigolo - An Edna Ferber Short Story Collection Edna Ferber,2022-09-26 Handsome mechanics struggling actresses unhappy couples and seemingly successful businessmen Gigolo is an Edna Ferber short story collection that recounts the quiet private lives of everyday Americans First published in 1922 Gigolo contains eight short stories that give a remarkable insight into life in 1910s America The aftermath of the war the glamour of Hollywood and women s long awaited right to vote have had varying effects on the characters Edna Ferber presents in this masterful collection This volume features eight short stories The Afternoon of a Faun Old Man Minick Gigolo Not a Day Over Twenty One Home Girl Ain t Nature Wonderful The Sudden Sixties If I Should Ever Travel Read Co Classics have proudly republished Gigolo An Edna Ferber Short Story Collection in a brand new edition complete with an introduction by Rogers Dickinson This volume is not one to be missed by fans of the famous Jazz Age writer Sex & the 60s Cissy Wechter,2006-10 Stranger in Baja takes the reader to sun struck and tawdry Cabo San Lucas the overdeveloped resort outpost on Mexico s bone dry southern Baja peninsula and the setting for a street war between evangelical foreigners and local Catholics Troubled by doubts and demons naive missionary volunteer Rob Hudson arrives in Cabo on a soul seeking mission and finds a world of inept arsonists wily healers prying journalists Machiavellian bosses troubled hermits hip hop bands lunar rituals drug gangs and a music teacher who rocks his soul The Edinburgh Review ,1898 The Forum of Education ,1925 Asian Highlands Perspectives Volume 7: Passions and Colored Sleeves - Mongghul Lives in Eastern Tibet ,2010-03-01 This genre bending work takes the novel down paths not often walked for it documents a dying culture by a couple of this cultural group provides elaborate footnotes sure to interest the anthropologically minded reader has portions that are biography and history and more Its richly detailed description of folk and religious practices family interactions and breadth in the number and types of scenes and vignettes provide valuable records of what was or might have been The story is set in China s largest province Qinghai best known for Koknor the great inland lake and more recently the devastating earthquake in Yushu in 2010 Within this vast land is situated Huzhu Mongghul Tu Autonomous County where the characters in this novel dwell Noted by nineteenth century Western explorers the Tu are one of China s fifty six official nationalities Speaking a language with close links to Mongolian the Mongghul are much influenced by Tibetan religion while retaining as this novel details many complex folk religious beliefs and practices The novel begins a year before the advent of the twentieth century and ends a century later spanning a time when Mongghul culture was vigorous to a time when much had been lost Women figure prominently in this work The main character Xjirimu refuses to discipline one of her sons who so brutally abuses his wife that she dies while fleeing the home. The dead woman's family exacts revenge that inspires Xjirimu to lead her ruined family to a new home in a wild, dangerous land where a wolf kills an infant left unattended as Xjirimu weeds nearby with her daughters. Xjirimu is to repeat history. Her sole surviving son brings a wife Zhualimaxji into a home ruled by Xjirimu and her three daughters, each of whom have undergone a ritual that allows them to see men and have children while remaining unmarried. It is not the son this time who abuses his wife but Xjirimu and the sisters. The wife flees. Where she goes and her ensuing life is vividly described by the writers who visited her in 2004. The runaway wife describes how much she missed her homeland to which she never returned. I climbed the mountain behind my village and gazed at my ancestral home. I wanted to fly there. She died a month after the authors' visit. Limusishiden and Jugui have accomplished something astonishing for they have taken us into a culture that only locals could write about so incisively with such authority and compassion and so unapologetically. In so doing, they have created an enduring record of this vanishing culture.

A Text-book of Bacteriology Edgar March Crookshank, 1899 The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, 1887 Lighter as We Go Mindy Greenstein, Jimmie C. Holland, 2015. The fears of aging have been one long cascading domino effect through the years: twenty-year-olds dread thirty, forty-year-olds fear fifty, sixty, seventy, and so it goes. And there is something to worry about, though it isn't what you'd expect: research shows that having a bad attitude toward aging when we're young is associated with poorer health when we're older. These worries tend to peak in midlife, but in Lighter as We Go, Mindy Greenstein and Jimmie Holland show us that contrary to common wisdom, our sense of well-being actually increases with our age, even in the presence of illness or disability. For the first time, Greenstein and Holland, on a joint venture between an 85-year-old and a fifty-year-old, explore positive psychology concepts of character strengths and virtues to unveil how and why, through the course of a lifetime, we learn who we are as we go. Drawing from the authors' own personal intergenerational friendship as well as a broad array of research from many different areas, including social psychology, anthropology, neuroscience, humanities, psychiatry, and gerontology, Lighter as We Go introduces compassion, justice, community, and culture to help calm our cascading fears of aging.

The Retrospect of Practical Medicine and Surgery William Braithwaite, James Braithwaite, Edmond Fauriel Trevelyan, 1875. Being an analysis of the British and foreign medical journals and transactions or a selection of the latest discoveries and most practical observations in the practice of medicine, surgery, and the collateral sciences for the past year, made chiefly with reference to the treatment of disease. Every man his humour Ben Jonson, William Gifford, 1875. Annual Report of the State Board of Live Stock Commissioners ... Illinois. Board of Livestock Commissioners, 1890. Annual Report of the Board of Commissioners Illinois. Live Stock Commission, 1890. The Independent, 1912. The Veterinarian, 1874. Coping Successfully with Changing Tides and Winds Dr. Jack Kushner, 2009-09-30. Careers and life can have many twists and turns. The external environment constantly changes, and these changes are beyond the control of most of us. Sometimes we have to alter our careers and our goals in order to survive Change however creates opportunities and we must prepare ourselves to be ready to seize opportunities that come our way Dr Jack Kushners story reads like another version of Forrest Gump He was present when civil rights history was made in the South with Rosa Parks He grew up and played street football with Bart Starr He volunteered for surgical service in Vietnam And he was a doctor in the ER when four little girls victims of the horrible church bombing were brought in He has experienced all of these events and more in his fascinating life in addition to making important changes in his careers throughout his life He believes that to survive and thrive in life it is imperative to differentiate yourself to be competitive in todays challenging marketplace In Coping Successfully with Changing Tides and Winds Kushner offers practical advice to anyone facing job loss or changes Plutarch's Lives Plutarch,1928
