Theory Of Secession:

Theories of Secession Percy B. Lehning, 2005-06-23 Theories of Secession presents a systematic analysis of the recent rise of secessionist movements in global politics Bringing together some of the most respected scholars in their field this study locates the right to secede in the context of contemporary political theory The chapters deal with problems of nationalism and federalism special rights to secede conditions of ethnic and cultural pluralism and asks if constitutions should include a right to secede

A Theory of Secession Christopher Heath Wellman, 2005-09-05 First published in 2005 A Theory of Secession The Case for Political Self Determination offers an unapologetic defense of the right to secede Christopher Heath Wellman argues that any group has a moral right to secede as long as its political divorce will leave it and the remainder state in a position to perform the requisite political functions He explains that there is nothing contradictory about valuing legitimate states while permitting their division Once political states are recognized as valuable because of the functions that they are uniquely suited to perform it becomes apparent that the territorial boundaries of existing states might permissably be redrawn as long as neither the process nor the result of this reconfiguration interrupts the production of the crucial political benefits Thus if one values self determination then one has good reason to conclude that people have a right to determine their political boundaries

The Theory of Secession Willet Lyon Ward, 1890

Creating New States Aleksandar Pavkovic, Peter Radan, 2016-05-13 Secession is the creation of a new independent state out of an existing state This key volume examines the political social and legal processes of the practice of secession Following an analysis of secessionist movements and their role in attempts at secession eight case studies are explored to illustrate peaceful violent sequential and recursive secessions This is followed by a look at the theoretical approaches and a discussion that focuses on the economic causes Normative theories of secession are discussed as well as the status of secession in legal theory and practice The book systematizes our present knowledge of secessions in an accessible way to readers not familiar with the phenomenon and its consequences It is ideal as a supplementary text to courses on contemporary political and social movements applied ethics and political philosophy international relations and international law state sovereignty and state formation A Theory of International Intervention in a Secessionist War Anne Noronha dos Santos,2004 Creating New States Aleksander Pavkovic,2007 Morality and Legality of Secession Pau Bossacoma Busquets,2019-11-19 This book explores secession from three normative disciplines political philosophy international law and constitutional law The author first develops a moral theory of secession based on a hypothetical multinational contract Under this contract theory injustices do not determine the existence of a right to secede but the requirements to exercise it The book s second part then argues that international law is more inclined to accept and advance a remedial right approach to secession Therefore justice as multinational fairness is to be fully institutionalized under the constitutional law of liberal democracies The final part proposes constitutionalizing a qualified right to secede with the aim of fostering recognition and accommodation of national pluralism as well as cooperation and compromise between majority and minority nations Secession Allen Buchanan,1991-09-25 This is the first book length treatment of an increasingly crucial topic Professor Buchanan develops a coherent theory of the conditions under which secession is morally justifiable and applies it to historical and contemporary examples Buchanan locates his account of the right to secede in the broader context of contemporary political thought introducing readers to influential accounts of political society such as contractarianism and communitarianism and showing how the possibility of secession fits into a more complete account of political community and political obligation This is an important book not just for political and social theorists but for any reader concerned with the future of troubled political federations and other states under conditions of ethnic and cultural pluralism International Law and Self-Determination Joshua Castellino,2021-07-26 The principle of self determination has at heart the achievement of true representation and democracy based on the idea that the consent of the governed alone can give government legitimacy The principle was primarily responsible for the decolonisation process that shaped our current international community Self determination has been used in equal rhetorical brilliance by a number of leaders some meritorious with a genuine concern for human emancipation others dubious with ascendancy to power at the heart of their project In any case self determination has come to mean different things in different contexts Being a vital principle especially in the post colonial state it is one factor that represents a threat to world order while at the same time holding out the promise of longer term peace and security based on values of democracy equity and justice This book looks at the intricacies of the norm in its current ambiguous manifestation and seeks to deconstruct it with regard to three particularly inter related discourses that of minority rights statehood and sovereignty and the doctrine of uti possidetis which shaped the modern post colonial state These norms are then analysed further within two case studies One concerning the creation of Bangladesh where self determination was achieved The second examines the situation in the Western Sahara where self determination whatever its manifestation is yet to be expressed In the course of these case studies we seek to highlight the problematic nature of national identity and the self in settings far removed from post Westphalian Europe Topical Outline of the Courses in

Constitutional and Political History of the United States Given at Harvard College in the Academic Year 1887-88 Albert Bushnell Hart, 1887 Topical Outline of the Courses in Constitutional and Political History of the United States Given at Harvard College in the Academic Year 1886-87 Albert Bushnell Hart, 1886 The Ashgate Research Companion to Ethics and International Relations Patrick Hayden, 2016-04-01 While skepticism about the role of moral considerations in international politics has been influential within the discipline of international relations IR those writing on topics such as war peace rights and trade up until the twentieth century took seriously the importance of ethical values and moral debates The 1990s and 2000s have seen a substantial growth of attention to the ways in which IR conceives and analyzes themes of an ethical nature and how issues problems and policies involving ethics are addressed by a variety of actors within the international system This indispensable research companion widens the perspective from ethics and international relations to ethics in international relations redressing the mis perception that ethical concepts principles norms and rules are not in part constitutive of the international system and the agents acting within that system Necessarily cross disciplinary expertise is drawn from IR and also philosophy political theory religious studies history and law making this an ideal volume for any library reference collection The Theory of Our National Existence John Codman Hurd, 1881 Guide to the Study of American History Edward Channing, Albert Bushnell Hart, 1896 Creating New States Aleksandar Pavković, 2007

Perspectives on Secession Martin Riegl, Bohumil Doboš, 2020-06-24 This book explores the changing nature of secessionist attempts in connection with rapidly evolving geopolitical and technological landscapes By presenting theoretical chapters as well as case studies on various secessionist movements around the globe the contributing authors study a range of topics including the role of the media in secessionist conflicts secessionist referenda and the viability of secessionist attempts in terms of their internal dimension and external support and interference The book will appeal to political scientists and international relations scholars who are interested in the processes politics and geopolitical implications of secessionist movements Masonic Facts and Fictions, Comprising a New Theory of the Origin of the "Ancient" Grand Lodge ... Henry Sadler, 1887 Secession Thomas Ulen, 1997 Secession Versus Self-Determination Rodion Belkovich, 2015 From the beginning of the 1980s the problem of secession has become one of the most discussed topics among the political theory scholars in Western academia Two main groups of theories which accept secession as a legitimate and morally permissible form of political action have emerged since then remedial or just cause theories and liberal theories The remedial theories regard secession as a remedy which can be used against the injustices a group suffers within a state The liberal theories grant any territorially organised group a right to secede and form a new state if the latter complies with the requirements we usually demand of a contemporary democratic regime What is common for both theories is their open acclaim of the right of self determination The study seeks to show that a theory of secession based on a self determination principle must adopt a substantially wider understanding of secession than both of these theories can offer a one which does not require a creation of a new state as a result
