

The book cover features a detailed illustration of a hobbit-hole interior. The room has a vaulted wooden ceiling with a chandelier hanging from the center. A large, oval-shaped window is the focal point, offering a view of a rolling green landscape with a river and distant hills. To the right of the window is a large, round, green door. The floor is made of polished wooden planks. In the background, there are smaller arched windows and a small table with a bottle on it. The overall style is classic and detailed, characteristic of John Howe's work.
